By Chloe Kneer - Northern Ontario has Pan Am Torch Relay fever as the torch makes its way through the province en route to the 2015 Pan Am Games in Toronto. The torch arrived in Toronto last Saturday, and was transported to Thunder Bay to begin the relay, which comes through Massey, Espanola, Little Current and Sudbury June 2. Massey has chosen student Emily McLeod and high school teacher/coach David Gallant will carry the torch through Espanola. Both communities are holding events to cheer on their torchbearers and celebrate after the torch continues its journey. There is another local aspect to the games, and that is female triple jumper

Sometimes Mangled Words Can Be Magical

The newspaper you're holding in your hands at this moment is the culmination of a great team effort by people who love their calling. Reporters and writers work tirelessly in a rush to meet deadlines, please their editors as well as inform and entertain readers. And, they make mistakes. I collect those mistakes. Sometimes the mistakes are more entertaining than the articles they appear in.

I got to thinking about messed-up messages that somehow miss the scrutiny of two or even three sets of eyes as I drove through a town named Athol Springs last week. I love the slow drive that hugs the Lake Erie shoreline south from Buffalo to Erie, Pennsylvania and every time I pass through Athol Springs, I shake my head in disbelief. My mind flashed back to a classified ad in a Texas daily newspaper that read: "Immediate opening for licensed speeth pathologist." I imagined the historical reporter for a local western New York paper writing: "Athol Springs was originally named by a somewhat cynical settler with a slight speech impediment."

I'm guessing the kids of Athol Springs leave town within an hour of graduation. They probably jump at the first job offer they see. Like the help wanted ad in the Camdenton, Missouri paper that read: "Singer for new rock band. Must be male or female." Bit vague, but the band is most certainly an equal opportunity employer.

Sometimes the right hand does not know what the left hand is doing. In the case of a Modesto, California paper, the historian had not been communicating with the caterer. "A workshop on the history and future of Chinook salmon in the San Joaquin Valley's rivers will be held in November. Baked salmon will be served for lunch." That could have been much worse. That could have been a workshop on the history and future of family pets! And November? Weekday or weekend? Early or later in the month?

I'm not saying a skewed announcement can put a publication out of business but this from the Religious News Service: "Eternity Magazine will cease publishing with the January issue." How about "Ceasing publication, the final issue of Eternity Magazine will be January."

British copy writers are by far the best, intentionally mangling newspaper reports. From the crime sheet: "Thieves stole a van containing bottles of hair restorer. Police are now combing the area."

From a more serious crime sheet: "Two men robbed a bank today. One is described as being seven feet tall, the other four feet six. Police are looking high and low for them."

Amid all the supermarket ads: "A truck carrying onions has dumped its load on the highway. Motorists are advised to find a shoulder to cry on."

And from Lost & Found: "Hundreds of stray dogs disappeared yesterday. Police say they have no leads."

Some deliberate headlines are quite clever. Like: "Latin Course To Be Cancelled - No Interest Among Students Et Al." Sometimes you can't be sure if they're deliberate. "Croupiers On Strike - Casino Management Says 'No Big Deal'."

And: "Lingerie Shipment Hijacked - Thieves Give Police The Slip." Now, that's

no accident. "Overweight? Meeting 6:00 p.m. at 522 North Eighth Street, Sheboygan, Illinois. Free. Bring your own chair." Yeah, that's definitely a mistake.

"Department of Transportation reviewed plans submitted by the no-thrills motel chain." Now that's an accident. Either the copy writer meant to say "the no-frills motel chain" or that place is located in the heart of Amish country.

Announcement in a small newspaper in Missouri concerning an aerobics class: "Please bring a towel or mate for floor exercises." Error, right? I think they were encouraging a participant to bring a 'mat.' If they did mean "mate" you better bring a lawyer as well.

And from a paper in Plains, Montana about a service club's monthly meeting: "The club president called the meeting to order and asked for a round of applesauce for the cooks." No one was hurt but the dry cleaning bill was over $100.

And finally my two favourites of all time, newspaper miscues that are almost magical.

This from a Community Life

insert in a British Columbia daily: "In last week's edition of Community Life, a picture caption listed some unusual gourmet dishes that were enjoyed at the Central Library party for foreign students enrolled in a tutorial program for conversational English. Mai Thai Finn is one of the students in the program and was in the center of the photo. We incorrectly listed her name as one of the items on the menu. Community Life regrets the error." Yeah, but not as much as Mai Thai Finn.

And lastly from a paper in Jamestown, New York: "Correction. The band "Raging Saints" base their music on Born Again Christian principles and The St. James version of the Bible. They are not "unrepentant head-bangers" as we reported in a column last Saturday. Our Night Life columnist regrets the error." Yeah, but not as much as Mai Thai Finn.

Free Family Container Gardening Event

A great way to teach your children about being self-sustaining is helping them plant their own garden. Our Children, Our Future and the Manitoulin-Sudbury District Services Board are hosting a free family container gardening and barbecue event on Saturday, June 6 from 10:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. The event is free and everyone is welcome to come out to the Red McCarthy Memorial Ball Field pavilion in Espanola. Each family will plant a small container vegetable garden to take home with them. Don't have a green thumb? Not to worry, members of the Espanola Horticultural Society will be there to help guide you and give you great growing tips. Afterwards, take part in the free barbecue. For information, contact Jessica at 705-869-5545, ext 263.

Community Clean Up In Webbwood

Marie Harris and Men's Aeries President Merle Stables. A potluck followed the swearing-in ceremonies. Then, awards and gifts were given, including three separate donations to worthy organizations. The Webbwood and Shakespeare Fire Departments each received $400 and the Webbwood library was given $500. Proceeds came from the Eagles Club Ladies Auxiliary monthly spaghetti supper fundraisers. The next supper is this Saturday, June 6. This will be the last supper until September.

The community of Webbwood gathered to participate in the 7th annual Bob Conroy Litter Walk on Saturday, May 23. Several residents donned rubber gloves, grabbed big garbage bags and walked the streets cleaning up. Afterwards, there was a barbecue lunch and fun for everyone who took part. The initiative was organized by Librarian Linda Lendrum. Later that evening, the Webbwood Eagles Club hosted its President's Ball with the swearing in of the new Ladies Auxiliary President

Espanola Town Council Report

By Chloe Kneer - A motion was introduced to reconsider a prior decision regarding the hiring of a second building inspector for Espanola. Council decided they would revisit the issue and discussion began about the merits of hiring a full-time replacement for the position. It was noted by Councillors Foster and Yocom that the town already has a large-scale project underway (renovations at Espanola High School) and is set to begin another soon (the new school that will be built for Sacred Heart and ecole St. Joseph). Foster said, "Big projects add to [the] demand [on an inspector], but also add to revenue." Yocom added, "One of the roles of council is to protect the interests of our residents and community." He was citing possible liability issues should the town not re-hire. "Also, I would like to say," said Yocom, "that this position has already been budgeted for." Council voted unanimously to begin interviewing candidates for the position immediately, but also made a point of saying they would re-visit the need for the position once the big projects have been completed in a couple of years. The other issue up for discussion was that of putting together a steering committee to deal with the upcoming OPP service proposal. The committee would oversee all of the aspects of obtaining and reviewing an OPP proposal to cover the town's policing needs. Councillor Foster said he would like to see two councillors appointed to the committee and it was unanimously agreed that would be the case. He noted that there is a systemic flow chart to follow and that public input would be crucial at different stages in the process. Council also recognized three community volunteers for their service who were recently honoured at a ceremony in Sudbury. They are Trevor McVey, Christine Sanders, and Klaus Ehrhardt. The next council meeting is June 9 at 7:30 p.m.

Let's Relay!

Pan Am Torch Comes Through Massey, Espanola

Caroline Ehrhardt's bid to make the Pan Am Games team and compete for Canada. Ehrhardt is an Espanola native, who was coached by Gallant at Espanola High School. In order to qualify for the team, Ehrhardt must be ranked one of the top two female triple jumpers in Canada as of June 14. Based on that requirement, Ehrhardt currently has a place secured on the team. She is competing twice between now and June 14 and hopes to maintain her spot. The Pan Am Games take place July 10-26, and the Parapan Am Games are August 7-15.

Recipe

I made this recipe yesterday to have a handy, healthy alternative in the fridge for busy mornings but it can also be made as a breakfast or brunch casserole for a group of people. The recipe calls for spinach but any favourite omelet/quiche ingredients can be substituted or added (ham, mushrooms, asparagus, tomatoes, etc.)

Spinach and Mozzarella Egg Bake

- ❖ 1 - 2 tsp olive oil
- ❖ 142 g container of spinach
- ❖ 1/4 cup diced onion
- ❖ 1/8 tsp garlic powder
- ❖ 1 cup partly skimmed mozzarella cheese (Blue Menu)
- ❖ 8 eggs, beaten
- ❖ 1/4 tsp salt
- ❖ Pepper

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Sauté onion in a medium size frying pan until it starts to soften, add the spinach and sprinkle with garlic powder. Sauté until just barely wilted. Grease a 7 x 11 baking dish. Spread the spinach/onion mixture out in a layer in the bottom of the dish. Layer the mozzarella cheese over the spinach. Pour the beaten eggs over the spinach and cheese. Then use a fork to gently stir the mixture so that the spinach, cheese and egg are combined. Bake about 30 minutes until mixture is set and lightly browned. Serve hot or cut into portions to keep in the fridge to microwave for a minute or two for a quick, healthy breakfast.
