CAMP DAY

Wednesday, June 3 is Tim Hortons Camp Day! Camp Day is the one day each year when every penny from coffee sales at Tim Hortons stores across Canada and the United States will be donated to the Tim Horton Children's Foundation.

On Camp Day, customers have the opportunity to buy a coffee and help send over 17,000 kids on the camping adventure of a lifetime. Campers aged nine to twelve years attend a ten day summer camp session, or a seven day winter camp session, at one of the Foundation's six camps. All children who attend camp are selected by Tim Hortons store owners who work closely with local youth organizations and schools to identify kids who would most benefit from an experience at camp.

"The outpouring of support that we receive from loyal Tim Hortons customers is what makes Camp Day an overwhelming success each year."

that have been designed by a flasher. All religions are in a constant state of membership drives so if a church is going after the well-being of my kidney, how long do you think it'll be before a mosque is offering to give my liver a good going-over.

Organized Religions Want Your Organs. Beware!

So I'm cruising through my morning paper when I spot one of those headlines you need to go back and read twice: "Church to hold kidney clinic." And I thought ... really?!? I received my last flu shot at the local drug store so I understand pharmacists will soon be performing more and more small tasks doctors normally do. At least there is a medical connection between a drug store and a doctor's office.

But churches offering to check your kidneys? And what church? I'm mostly of Irish descent and used to be a Catholic. (The deal breaker was the story about the Virgin Mary having a baby. I didn't believe it in the Bible and I didn't believe it when it happened in Dain City and I was a kid struggling with that 'birds and bees' thing.) So as a failed Catholic, if I show up at a Protestant church for a kidney check-up, do I risk setting off some sort of sectarian violence? I mean I don't want to start a violent rock-throwing Orange Parade only to find out there was nothing wrong with my kidneys in the first place!

So now I'm confused - which church and which kidney? I've got two so just to keep everybody happy, I could have one examined at St. Theresa's and the other at the Central United Church.

Still, I'm against places of worship doubling as examination rooms and if asked, I will refuse to attend church wearing one of those hospital gowns

Pretty soon the Buddhists will be inviting me into their temple and offering to calm my nerves and enrich my spirit. This will prompt the Hindus to invite me into their temple offering me karma, dharma and a vegan alternative to my taste for a well done BBQ'ed steak.

Pretty soon the Taoists will want to show me how my lower colon can live in harmony with my spleen and the Shintoists will have me doing a series of Japanese morning rituals which will pump more blood to my heart and give my legs better mileage.

Next thing you know I'll be so confused I'll have no choice but to seek answers about my health from Confucius himself. "Man who eats many prunes get good run for his money." My last resort would be the atheists who would only be too happy to solve the entire situation by replacing all churches with hospitals.

Where will it end? Am I going to open my newspaper one morning and discover that the rabbi of the local synagogue is offering to perform circumcisions!!! Oh wait, they already do that. It's called a Bar Mitzvah ... or maybe it's a Bar Milah. I may be unclear on the name but I do know it's the kind of ceremony that makes most men cross their legs.

Memo to churches everywhere: multi-tasking is heresy. Remember the words of Martin Luther King when he urged us all to do just one thing well: "Even if it falls to your lot to be a street sweeper, go on out and sweep streets like Michelangelo painted pictures; sweep streets like Handel and Beethoven composed music, sweep streets like Shakespeare wrote poetry ..."

You know who started all this crazy crossover multi-tasking mess? The world-renowned Shouldice Hospital in Thornhill, Ontario. It wasn't enough that they have been performing a unique and successful hernia repair operation for decades. No, they had to go and combine pain with pleasure by offering follow-up examinations of hernia operations during their reunion ballroom dinner dances. One such hernia hop attracted 1,500 former patients. I'm not making this up. I would have called it "The Strangulated Sac Hop" but that's just me. Yeah, strut your stuff on the dance floor and then go cough in the corner.

Imagine that? Dancing to Abnormal Slim And The Abdominal Wall? "Come on baby, let's do the (cough! cough!) Crouch! Come on baby, now don't say (cough! cough!) Ouch!"

The Shouldice doctors use the metal mesh of restoring the bulged wall so it's easy to keep out gate crashers at the ball. You have to set off the metal detectors at the front door in order to get in. And of course, it's very popular. I mean where else can you drop your pants at a party without fear of being arrested?

This nonsense of churches assuming responsibility of our body parts just naturally has to stop. And now, because I for one do not want to pick up the paper and be tempted to attend "a free nondenominational and spiritual bonfire exchange." Oh yeah, that would be Satanism and they're coming for my soul. Sorry, but I once voted for Stephen Harper and the Conservatives so my soul has already been sold.

Calling All Crafters

Cindy Bee's Quilt Shoppe in Espanola hosted the "It's Time For Colour" quilt tour recently, with award-winning mini quilts on display. The two day stint in Espanola was the last stop on the tour and the only northern Ontario stop on the Canadian Quilters Association calendar. All of the quilts that were on display had won awards in the last three years in the national juried show. They were all available for purchase as well, with only a couple remaining by the time the tour landed in Espanola. Greeting cards depicting the quilts on the front were also for sale and all proceeds from the sales are being donated to The Children's Wish Foundation of Canada.

One of the quilts that was on display was created by local quilter Myra Tallman of Mindemoya. Tallman's quilt is called "Happy." Cindy Bee's is also a drop off location for the coral reef project that will be displayed in one of the squash courts of the Espanola complex during the 4th annual Espanola Fibre Arts festival October 16-18. Crafters have been working diligently crocheting corals and replicas of sea life including fish, octopus, jelly fish, you name it, to put on display during the festival. The Espanola Fibre Arts Festival is also hosting a "knitting on the ferry" Saturday June 13. Those interested in riding the MS Chi Cheemaun Ferry can meet at the ferry terminal in South Baymouth at 10:30 a.m. The cost is your walk-on ticket to ride the ferry. For more information on the Espanola Fibre Arts Festival, contact Jody Pilon at coordinator@espanolafibreartsfestival.ca.

Tim Hortons Camp Day Is June 3

says Dave Newnham Vice President, Tim Horton Children's Foundation. "Supporting Camp Day gives economically disadvantaged kids the opportunity to experience a camping adventure that will inspire them for years to come." Last year alone, Camp Day raised almost $12 million. Both the McKerrow and Espanola Tim Hortons locations will participate with local volunteers serving coffee to help the cause.

Organized Sport Helps Kids Maximize Their Potential

The benefit of physical activity to children is undeniable. From improved health and well-being to increased focus in school, sport has the power to change lives. Yet one in three Canadian families can't afford to enroll their children in organized sport. The importance of sport goes beyond the obvious physical gains. Organized sport helps Canadian youth become more independent while developing key life skills such as leadership, discipline, and confidence.

Giving every Canadian child the opportunity to participate in sport is important to the development of our future generation. That's why Canadian Tire Jumpstart Charities and its 1,900 Community Partners across Canada are helping to close this gap. This year Jumpstart celebrates its 10th anniversary of providing kids from financially disadvantaged families the opportunity to get involved in an organized sport or physical activity of their choice by covering costs associated with registration, equipment and transportation. The charity continues to grow – last year Jumpstart gave 190,000 kids the opportunity to play and this fall, will reach its one millionth child helped. That's one million kids spanning virtually every community across Canada who have been given the chance to develop the confidence, discipline, leadership and teamwork skills that come with participation in organized sport, and Jumpstart intends to keep the momentum going.

"Providing one million kids with access to over 76 different sports over ten years is an incredible milestone for Jumpstart and we do it because we believe sport means something to a child's development," says Landon French, Executive Director, Canadian Tire Jumpstart Charities. "We believe that every kid deserves an equal opportunity to play, learn and grow, and we're looking forward to helping a million more kids in the years to come."

This June, you can help kids in your community get in the game by supporting Jumpstart's Red Ball campaign at any Canadian Tire store. A $2 donation in exchange for your own Jumpstart Red Ball, will give the gift of play to a deserving kid. One hundred per cent of customer donations help children in the local community. If you know a kid who wants to play but is unable to because of costs, call 1-844-YES-PLAY or visit jumpstart.canadiantire.ca.

Correction: In the Espanola Town Council Report in the May 19 issue of the Around&About, we incorrectly reported that taxes for Espanola residents will increase by $10/month. In fact, taxes will only increase by $10/year. The residential tax rate went down by approximately $5, while the educational portion went up by approximately $15. The offset of those two figures results in a $10 increase for the year for ratepayers.

Recipe

In a quest to eat healthier, my daughter and I have been trying new recipes to make for meals and snacks. I made the following recipe this week and we both love it. Sometimes you just need something sweet and these taste like a truffle. The following recipe can be made gluten free and dairy free. If you have a peanut allergy in your family, toss in cashew butter or almond butter. It's perfect for that chocolate craving without all the guilt.

No Bake Peanut Butter Cup Brownie Bites

- ❖ 3/4 cup oats, regular or gluten free
- ❖ 1 cup raw pecans (I used half pecans, half almonds)
- ❖ 1/2 cup dark chocolate chips
- ❖ 20 pitted dates
- ❖ 1/2 cup unsweetened cocoa powder
- ❖ 1 tsp vanilla extract
- ❖ 3 tbsp 100% pure maple syrup
- ❖ 1 tbsp milk of choice
- ❖ 3 tbsp natural peanut butter or other nut butter
- ❖ 1/8 tsp sea salt

Soak dates in warm water for about 10 minutes. If you don't have a lot of time, run them under hot water for a minute or so. In a food processor, process oats into a flour-like consistency. Add pecans and process until combined and flour-like. Add in dates, vanilla, maple, chocolate chips, peanut butter, milk, cocoa powder and sea salt. Process until a dough begins to form. Roll into bite sized balls and chill for about 10 minutes. Let these sit out for about 10-15 minutes before eating if they have been in the fridge for more than an hour. This will allow them to soften a bit.
