Did you know that Boogie Mountain offers two nights of skiing every Tuesday and Thursday from 6:30 - 9:30 p.m. as well as daily weekend skiing from 10:00 a.m. - 4:00 p.m., weather permitting? Well worth the drive from Elliot Lake, Sudbury and Manitoulin Island, and ski memberships are the most economical way for you and your family to enjoy the hill.

Boogie Mountain has two different ski areas and two types of ski lifts. The small hill is rated as an easy run but also has a terrain park and has a J-bar rope tow. The big hill has over ten runs for various abilities from easiest to difficult and has a T-bar tow. The chalet offers a dining area and canteen upstairs and a rental shop, lockers and washrooms downstairs. All the snow is natural and groomed by a Bombardier Snow Cat which

Crazy-Ass Jack, The Kennedy Horse

I always hope it rains on November 22. I look forward to a lousy, gray day that keeps me indoors and makes me think about what might have been. The sun should not shine on the day President John F. Kennedy was shot, the day that our carefree, wide-eyed behaviour was halted with a caution sign.

For the naive teenagers of the 60's, Kennedy really was Camelot - the perfect leader in an idyllic time when beauty and peace flourished and a poem had more power than a gun. Then the bullets and the chaotic carnage on a street in Dallas, Texas changed all that. The world would never be the same, would never be as safe or simple as it was before November 22, 1963.

As well as I remember where I was that day, I can easily recall the godawful scenes replayed on a black and white TV screen, a book depository, a theatre, Walter Cronkite crying. I clearly remember the funeral procession three days later during which the carparisoned horse decided he would play the role of jester to the slain King of Camelot.

Last year I watched the coverage of the fiftieth anniversary of the assassination and I spotted him again. With a large head and dark coat, the well-built riderless horse in JFK's procession was named Black Jack. Black Jack had become a funeral horse almost by mistake. "He was not suitable for riding, he wouldn't pull anything, he threw all his riders and he refused to go on parade." That from the man who recruited him into the U.S. army. (Not exactly a ringing endorsement of young American men who have also joined the military.) Sixteen years old at the time of JFK's funeral, Black Jack was not qualified for anything except strutting proudly down the street as the caparisoned horse in military funeral processions. And he was a beautiful beast.

Despite his ornery attitude, Black Jack was much admired for his spirit and great physique when he joined the army at Fort Myer, Virginia, on November 22, 1952, to be all that he could be. He served in the Third U.S. Infantry Regiment, known as the Old Guard, performing the duties of the riderless horse in more than one thousand Armed Forces full-honors funerals.

America's grief on that cold and somber Monday in late November 1963 was mirrored in the sight of Black Jack clomping down the eerily quiet streets of Washington, D.C. The silence, wet and woeful was shattered by the echo of his thudding hooves. All along the parade route, mourners wept amid the muffled rumble of military drums. Carrying a saber and an ebony English riding saddle with black boots reversed in the stirrups, Black Jack was led by nineteen-year-old Pfc. Arthur Carlson, who must have done horrible things in this previous life to draw this particular assignment. The riderless walk began with the horse stomping on Carlson's foot and ripping his boot off.

"I thought he broke a couple toes on my right foot, but he didn't," said Carlson later. On what was supposed to be a stately walk along Pennsylvania Avenue from the Capitol to the White House and on to St. Matthew's Cathedral, Black Jack kept throwing his head back and dancing around his handler. He pounded the pavement loudly when he was supposed to be standing still, frequently fidgeting whenever the procession slowed or stopped. At one point the video shows him high-stepping down the street with his head and tail bobbing like he's auditioning for the Royal Canadian Mounted Police's Musical Ride or opening the Iowa State Fair. By protocol, poor Carlson was forbidden to scold his steed or even speak to him as Black Jack dragged him sideways and then forward, finally pushing away the man's hand with his nose. At the White House, instead of standing at attention, he kept resisting his handler, as if he had a more important assignment somewhere else. Maybe a date in the breeding barn.

After witnessing him taking Carlson for a wild walk from a position directly behind the horse-drawn caisson carrying the coffin of the slain president, a writer from the New York Times kindly described him as "spirited and difficult to handle."

Normally serene and dignified, the caparisoned horse is supposed to be the sacred symbol of a fallen soldier who is never to ride again. At no time, however, did Black Jack bring the expected pomp and circumstance to the event being watched by a TV audience of 175 million. Given his behaviour on that day, the horse's head could have easily been adorned with a lampshade.

I have had strange and unexplained things happen whenever a loved one, be it a person or pet has passed away so whenever I watch footage of the irrepressible Black Jack livening up a state funeral, I can't help but wonder if President Kennedy, a man of mischief and adventure was himself encouraging 'Crazy-ass Jack' to make the most of the moment.

Surprisingly, the Kennedys were not at all upset, believing that Black Jack had personified the spirit and individualism of the other Jack. Their beloved Jack.

Espanola Little Theatre Back On Stage With 'Dear Santa'

By Kathy Carre - 6 adults + 15 elves + 1 Santa = LOADS OF LAUGHS! You won't want to miss this show! November 20, 21, 27, 28. Call 705-869-6214 for tickets. Show details are below, but let's start at the beginning of our ELT story.

Espanola Little Theatre was founded in 1958. And we are so grateful for Red McCarthy, Sharon and Bob Sproule, Mike and Carley Galvin, Jean Olfert, Bill Farnham, to name a few, who have all been so instrumental in building the foundation of ELT. Where would we be without them? These are the key people from the very start who created the reputation of excellent theatre enjoyed by our Espanola residents over all of these years. Sharon Sproule, in particular, instilled a discipline in so many of us who have been lucky to have worked with her. This discipline and dedication exists within us today. Since then ELT has put on over 150 plays.

Our community has been placed on the map many times over the years as we have won awards at the regional, provincial and even the international level. Our last production in 2012-2013, "Looking," by Norm Foster went on to win Quonta and then garnered another win at Theatre Ontario. We had a quieter year in 2013-2014, but are now bursting with renewed energy. We continue to invite new volunteers to help both on and off the stage as we build and grow our group. ELT is dedicated to continue bringing the same excellent theatre that our audiences have always enjoyed.

Our newly formed executive is a very dedicated team to bring this vision to fruition. We continue to welcome others.

Fast forward 57 years from that first production and we are taking the stage once again with the production of "Dear Santa," also by Norm Foster. This is a side-splitting Christmas comedy for all ages written by Canada's funniest and most produced author.

Six adults will be gracing the stage with some of our seasoned veterans like Mike Boivin, Kathy Carre, Dario Laurenti, and Warren Tilston and newcomers Tammy and Kate Sheppard who have impressed us right from the first rehearsal. Directors Walter Maskel and Andrea Emmerton have brought their expertise to Espanola Little Theatre once again. We are very fortunate to have their guidance and direction as we have been working our way through rehearsals. Our fifteen elves, under the capable hands of Jodi Bourcier, range in age from 6 to 13 years old. And what can we say about the elves who are clearly the icing on the cake in this production! "They are a joy to work with," says Laurenti, ELT President, "and they are sure to put a smile on everyone's face."

We are confident that this production will live up to expectations of our ELT founders. We stand on their shoulders!

Join us this Friday, November 20 and Saturday, November 21 at 7:00 p.m. or next Friday, November 27 at 7:00 p.m. and a matinee on Saturday, November 28 at 3:00 p.m. The show will be in the Espanola High School B1 gym and you can get tickets by calling 705-869-6214 or at the Espanola complex or Rustie's JFB Café in the Espanola Mall. Tickets are just $15 each or $50 for a family of four.

Espanola Town Council Report

By Chloe Kneer – There will be no increase in pay for Espanola Town Council in the coming year, as it was voted down 5-1 at the November 10 regular meeting. In a recorded vote, only Councillor Stewart Meikleham voted in favour of the 1.5% pay increase with Councillors Dufour, Ron Duplessis, Ken Duplessis, Bob Yocom and Mayor Ron Piche saying no to the raise. Councillor Bill Foster was absent from the meeting. The other topic of lengthy discussion was the adoption of a Code of Conduct for the council. Currently, Espanola has no Code of Conduct in place like many other municipalities. Councillors Dufour and Ron Duplessis were opposed to the measure altogether, while Councillor Ken Duplessis took issue with wording about punishment, specifically a phrase reading that council could issue a “reprimand or a suspension of up to 90 days” for any councillor who is deemed to have contravened the Code. It was suggested that the wording was taken directly from the Municipal Act, but that couldn’t be clarified immediately. Ultimately, the vote on the matter was split, so it will have to be reintroduced if it is to be passed. Two letters were drafted and sent from Espanola Town Council recently. One was addressed to former Espanola Hospital CEO Ray Hunt, who left earlier this month to take a position with the Northern Ontario School of Medicine. Council thanked Hunt for his many years of service and dedication in improvements to the hospital complex. The other went to the Manitoulin-Sudbury District Services Board expressing dissatisfaction and deep concern over the MSDSB’s recent decision to raise rent rates on public housing. The increase would see the rent for a one bedroom apartment increase to $940. Council wanted to show solidarity in opposition to the decision.

makes an incredible ski surface for skiers and boarders. The hill has a certified Ski Patrol team on duty throughout the ski season to ensure your safety and we also offer ski/snowboard lessons for anyone who is learning or looking to improve their skills. Weather permitting, Boogie Mountain kicks off our season with opening day during the Christmas break and winds down the season after the March Break. Boogie Mountain must raise funds through memberships, lift passes and fundraising events throughout the season to keep operating year after year. The club’s volunteers work hard at fundraising with different events outside the regular ski activities. For the 2015-16 ski season, Boogie Mountain volunteers have already begun their fundraising efforts with their annual grocery bagging event on Thanksgiving weekend at Winkel’s Your Independent Grocer. November 21, the hill will host a ski swap and membership drive, and there will also be various teen, and adult ski socials planned throughout the ski season. A very popular event hosted at Boogie Mountain will be the 3rd

Annual Big Air event with an Après Ski and live band. Courtesy shuttle in the evening will be provided. This is a huge event that is well-attended by skiers and boarders throughout Sudbury and the North Shore. This year Boogie Mountain will again welcome the local Elementary Schools grades 6 to 8 for an opportunity to ski at Boogie Mountain. Keep your eyes open for the notices which will be sent out to the schools in the new year. Please follow us on our website and Facebook for the latest happenings this season at Boogie Mountain. The 2015-16 Membership Form is available on the back cover of this issue of the Around and About, on the website at www.boogiemountain.com, the Boogie Mountain Facebook page and available at the Espanola Regional Recreation Complex. Completed forms and payments can be mailed in or dropped at the complex, or come out and visit us this Saturday November 21 at the hill to drop off your completed membership form. Please support your local ski hill and like/share Boogie Mountain on Facebook and Twitter.

Rainbow Schools Students Participate In Take Our Kids To Work Day

Grade 9 students in Rainbow Schools spent the day at work job shadowing a parent, relative, friend or volunteer host Wednesday, November 4, as part of the national Take Our Kids to Work program.

"Grade 9 students experienced the world of work and the variety of career opportunities that await them," said Rainbow District School Board Chair Doreen Dewar. "We thank area businesses for opening their doors and welcoming our students into their places of work."

Take Our Kids to Work benefits students in many ways. "When students make the connection between the classroom and the world of work, they understand the importance of staying in school and getting a secondary school diploma," says Norm Blaseg, Director of Education for Rainbow District School Board. "They learn first-hand about the skills required in today's workplace and get to explore career options alongside a parent or friend." He adds, "Local employers have an important role to play in preparing their future workforce. It's a role they take seriously, evident by strong community support for Co-operative Education, the Ontario Youth Apprenticeship Program, the Specialist High Skills Majors and other experiential learning opportunities such as the Take Our Kids to Work program. The day serves as a catalyst to engage students in career discussions with adults in a variety of fields."

The Learning Partnership, a national not-for-profit organization, sponsors Take Our Kids to Work. Now in its twenty-first year, the program provides Grade 9 students with the opportunity to experience and learn about the world of work as they begin to explore possible career paths.

More than 250,000 Grade 9 students and at least 75,000 businesses and organizations nationwide participate in Take Our Kids to Work day annually. The Learning Partnership began running this program in 1994 in Ontario and it has since grown into a national program that reaches students in all provinces and territories across the country. All Grade 9 students received Workplace Health and Safety awareness training in preparation for their day out in the world of work.

Recipe

I made this square last weekend and I couldn't stop eating it. I love pecan pie and I love shortbread, and this square is a combination of both of these things. Don't overbake these; they are supposed to come out soft and chewy with a melt in your mouth crust. I can't wait to make these again to add to my Christmas cookie trays. Who am I kidding? I just want more.

Pecan Pie Bars

For crust:

- ❖ 1 cup unsalted butter, softened
- ❖ 2/3 cup packed brown sugar
- ❖ 2 2/3 cups all-purpose flour
- ❖ 1/2 teaspoon salt

For topping:

- ❖ 1/2 cup unsalted butter
- ❖ 1 cup packed light brown sugar
- ❖ 1/3 cup honey
- ❖ 2 tablespoons heavy cream
(I used half and half without a problem)
- ❖ 2 cups chopped pecans

Preheat the oven to 350°F and line a 9x13-inch pan with foil, leaving enough for a 2-inch overhang on all sides. Spray with non-stick spray to be safe. First make the crust by creaming together the butter and brown sugar until fluffy in a stand mixer fitted with the paddle attachment or using a hand mixer. Add in the flour and salt and mix on low, until crumbly. Press the crust into the foil-lined pan and bake for 20 minutes until golden brown. While the crust bakes, prepare the filling by combining the butter, brown sugar, honey and heavy cream in a saucepan and stirring it over medium heat. Simmer the mixture for 1 minute, and then stir in the chopped pecans. (Don't simmer over 1 minute or caramel will get hard). Remove the crust from the oven and immediately pour the pecan filling over the hot crust spreading it to cover the entire surface. Return the pan to the oven and bake an additional 15- 20 minutes (until the caramel looks set). Remove the pan and allow the bars to fully cool in the pan. Use the foil overhang to lift out the bars and transfer them to a cutting board. Peel off the foil, slice into bars and serve.
