The Espanola Express Are On Track

By Chloe Kneer - The last few weeks have been busy ones at the Espanola complex. The Espanola Express is ready to leave the station, and staff and players have been practicing and prepping for the upcoming season, its inaugural one in Espanola as part of the NOJHL. You may have seen the team training at the track and field, scrimmaging on the ice or playing Elliot Lake in a pre-season exhibition game last weekend. (The Express play the Blind River Beavers at home in another round of exhibition action this Friday at 7:00 p.m.) All of this is the lead up to their home opener of the regular season next Friday, September 11 against Rayside Balfour.

Message In A Bottle: Love Or Possible Groin Injury

Recently a letter in a bottle washed up on the beach of the German island of Amrum and history was made. One of a 1,000 such glass vessels released around 1904 by North Sea researcher George Parker Bidder to study oceanic currents, this particular message in a bottle is quite possibly the oldest ever found.

Sixteen years ago, this month, a message in a bottle washed up on the beach here at Sunset Bay, Wainfleet. Reading on the breakwall I spotted it coming ashore - a glint of sunshine catching its metal cap as the green bottle bobbed and weaved, over one wave and under the next, rolling ever closer. It was a bottle of cheap wine called L'Ambiance which is a fancy French word for "ambiance," which is a fancy English word for "homemade." (Put a photo of The King on the label and this stuff is Forever Elvis.)

So I waded into the water and spotting the paper inside, I ripped away at the cap thinking I've just come into possession of a winning lottery ticket or the map to the Lost Dutchman Gold Mine. Maybe a Genie would pop out and grant me any wish in the world with the warning: "But remember whatever you wish, your worst enemy gets double." And with an Irish accent I would reply: "Okay, here's his name and address, now beat me half to death."

But no, it was a hand-written one-page letter dated Tuesday, September 07/1999 and it read: "To Whomever finds this: (If you're not a man - pls throw it back in.)

"I'm searching, looking, seeking, require a man who knows joy; joy of life, joy of living. Joy in degrees closer to that of angels - but which can be experienced on this planet, in this life.

"Someone who looks from within with eyes that see, who feels with a heart that loves, who hears with ears that know life is good; it's real (insert very bad word here) good.

"We're on a journey, this life. Let's grab it by the (insert very bad, anatomical, plural slang word here) and go to heights not commonly experienced by humans - drug & alcohol free.

"Interested. You'll know me by the look in my eyes. Signed, a soul mate." And there's a happy face at the bottom of the page which looks exactly like a composite sketch of the last guy to shoot up a cinema in the United States. Well, I just couldn't believe it. Where normally there might be driftwood or algae, on that day my beach had become a dating service! A love affair on foolscap had arrived at my feet in an empty bottle, encased in a bunch of question marks.

On the first pass of the letter it's clear we have a woman who's looking for the love of her life, a woman who has trouble spelling the word please. This is also a woman with a good eye for the big picture and nice penmanship. On the surface it appears pretty simple. This is a woman who's looking for a man with good eyesight, a sound cardiovascular system and ears unencumbered by hearing aids. And a man who recognizes life to be good, real ... ah ... good.

On closer inspection you uncover a complicated woman who's probably addicted to Touched By An Angel reruns and walks around humming "Feelings" all day. On the one hand, she wants a man who's alcohol free, yet she sends her message in an empty wine bottle, the contents of which I assume gave her the courage to write this letter in the first place. Men cannot accept a woman who employs double standards ... because that's our "Get Outta Jail Free" card. Okay?

This is a woman who does not want a relationship with either a drug user or a falling down drunk. Picky, picky, picky.

This is a woman who appears not to be taking a cheap shot at anyone yet she slyly dates the letter September 07/1999 knowing full well whenever the bottle arrived, it would beat Canada Post's standard delivery time by a week.

This is a woman who desperately wants a man but what she really needs is a wine appreciation course. Something unoaked with a flinty nose of blueberries in the $12 to $15 range is going to help create a much better message. Altogether now: "I'm all out of love, I'm so lost without you."

Personally however, she'd make a better first impression when she meets her man if she just shook his hand. That life grabbin' business is going to send a potential soul mate soaring to heights not commonly experience by humans, if you know what I mean. Right after they meet, you'll know the lucky guy by the fear in his eyes and the protective cup strapped on the outside of his jeans. Good luck with all that.

P.S. My blue box rejected the empty L'Ambiance bottle.

Opp Remind The Public To Secure Your Cottage Property

The East Algoma Detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police (OPP) would like to remind the public that cottage break and enters; damage and theft are serious concerns impacting police, cottagers, cottagers' associations and insurance companies.

All suspicious matters need to be reported and obtain as much information as a possible. This includes physical descriptions, clothing descriptions, vehicle descriptions (licence plate), the area where they were last seen and direction they are heading.

Thieves like to target the easy to carry items so that it doesn't hinder their movement. Safeguard your property by making your mark! Operation Identification urges you to mark or etch your valuables in a highly visible spot. Property that is engraved is considered "damaged goods" in the eyes of a criminal. Copy down a list of the serial numbers of all your electronic devices, tools, generators and keep this list in a secure area as these numbers can assist in investigations.

Remember to assure your safety at all times. Contact police immediately and do not tamper with the crime scene as valuable evidence can be lost.

Landscaping, effective lighting, quality doors/locks and other security measures should also be taken. Predictable is preventable. Safeguard your property.

For more information on Operation Identification please visit www.opp.ca.

The African Children's Choir Makes A Stop In Espanola

The African Children's Choir performed in Espanola last week to a packed house at the Queensway Pentecostal Church. The choir is composed of African children, ages 7 to 10, many who have lost parents to war, disease or famine. Essentially, the choir is a cross-section representative of children on the African continent. However, these children are made aware that their parents' or others' untimely fate does not have to be their own. The choir, and the tours they've taken all over the world, raise awareness to the needs of destitute and orphaned African children, but more than that, shed light, give hope and actively raise money for a better future. In fact, their website, www.africanchildrenschoir.com, features the success stories of children who once sang in the choir, many of whom that have gone on to become doctors, midwives or lawyers.

The choir was formed in 1984, born out of Uganda's civil war. Human rights activist Ray Barnett was asked to help with the many orphaned and starving children, who, after losing their parents, were left to fend for themselves. The idea of the choir took shape from the inspiration of one young boy's singing voice. Since that time, more than a thousand vulnerable children have been through the choir program, helping not only themselves, but spreading the wealth of the funds they raise to provide opportunities to other children who desperately need them. The funds help with their educational needs, from secondary school right through higher education. They have also helped establish children's homes, a boarding and day school, a farm and music centre. The African Children's Choir has performed for the Queen, on American Idol and was even nominated for a Grammy award in 1992.

Recipe

A meatless pasta dish that is great for a family dinner or a pot luck. This is really quite easy to make and is true Italian comfort food.

Cheese-Stuffed Baked Pasta Shells

- ❖ 42 Jumbo pasta shells
- ❖ 1 tbsp olive oil
- ❖ ½ cup chopped onion
- ❖ 1 ¼ cup tomato sauce
- ❖ ½ cup fresh basil or 2 tsp dried
- ❖ ¼ tsp black pepper
- ❖ 2 cups Cottage Cheese
- ❖ ¼ cup Parmesan Cheese
- ❖ 1 egg
- ❖ 1 cup shredded Mozzarella Cheese

Bring a large pot of water to a boil. Add the pasta and cook until al dente, 8-10 minutes. Drain the pasta and rinse under cold water; set aside. In a medium saucepan over medium heat, cook onion until transparent. Add the tomato sauce, half of the basil and the pepper, and bring to a boil. Reduce heat to low and simmer for 10 minutes. Preheat oven to 375 degrees. In a medium bowl, combine the cheeses, egg and remaining basil. Stuff each shell with about 1 tbsp of the cheese mixture. Place the shells in a shallow 11x17 baking dish. Pour the tomato sauce over the shells and sprinkle with shredded mozzarella. Bake for 25 minutes or until hot and bubbly.

Espanola Police Report

On July 29 at midnight, a member of the Espanola Police Service stopped a motor vehicle on Queensway Street, Espanola, to alert the driver that one of his headlights on his vehicle was not working. When the officer stopped the vehicle, it was discovered that the driver had flakes of Marijuana on his lap, and the vehicle had the recent odour of burnt Marijuana inside. Based on his observations, the officer placed the driver and passenger under arrest on reasonable grounds to believe that they were in possession of a Controlled Substance, and a search incident to arrest revealed that the driver had almost 11 grams of Marijuana in his pocket. As a result, the 19-year old male driver from Espanola was charged with one count of Possession of a Controlled Substance, and appeared in Espanola Court on August 18, 2015, to answer to his charges. The passenger was released with no charges.

On August 11 at 10:10 p.m., the Espanola Police Service responded to a disturbance call outside a Wood Street residence, involving an intoxicated male screaming, and possibly kicking parked cars in the area. Upon arrival, a witness pointed police in the direction of the male causing the disturbance, and when the male saw police, he ran away, but was located a short time later and placed under arrest for Being Intoxicated in a Public Place. As a result of the incident, the 20 year old from Willisville was lodged at the Espanola Police Service until sober, and upon release, received a $65.00 ticket under the Liquor Licence Act, for Being Intoxicated in a Public Place. No vehicles were damaged in the area.

Anyone with information on any of these crimes call Espanola Police Service at (705) 869-3251 or remain anonymous by calling Sudbury Rainbow Crime Stoppers locally at (705) 222-TIPS (8477) or toll free at 1-800-461-4899
