New Health Care Option
 In Espanola

By Chloe Kneer - The future of practicing medicine in under-served areas is now available in Espanola. On Friday, March 25, MedviewMD celebrated the grand opening of its newest walk-in clinic. The clinic is housed inside Robinson's Pharmasave and offers a quicker alternative to using the hospital emergency room when you are sick. The clinic is staffed by two RPN's (registered practical nurses), who confer with an on-call doctor via telemedicine (akin to Skype). The doctor can listen in or look at patients' vitals as the RPN takes them, ask the patient questions about his or her condition, and make a determination about the course of treatment, including prescribing medication, if appropriate. For many in rural and northern areas, where family doctors are in short supply,

2016 PROPERTY ASSESSMENT UPDATE

In 2016, the Municipal Property Assessment Corporation (MPAC) is updating the assessed values of every property in Ontario. All properties will have a legislated valuation date of January 1, 2016. Residential property owners can expect to receive their Property Assessment Notice in late April of 2016. Non-residential Notices will be mailed in the fall of 2016. These values will be used by the municipality to calculate your property taxes for the 2017-2020 property tax years.

For more information on how assessment works, market trends, the Request for Reconsideration process and property assessment and taxation, visit aboutmyproperty.ca. If you would like to see the information MPAC has on file for your property or compare your property to others in your area, you can register and login using the Roll Number and Access Key located on your Property Assessment Notice. Your deadline to file a Request for Reconsideration is listed on your Property Assessment Notice. You have 120 days from the Issue Date listed on your Notice to request a review.

Man I Miss That Crazy Cat

Twenty years on and I still think about that crazy little bugger. Weggie was named for his habit of wedging himself into small and unusual places that required elaborate rescue operations just short of the 'jaws of life.' I should have named him Mr. T – that's 'trouble' with a capital "T." And why did the cat cross the road? Because I absolutely, categorically, most emphatically forbid him to do so, that's why!

A dedicated and curious explorer, Weggie had at his disposal a half-mile of beach, a creek with wild brush growing up on both banks and six summer cottages all conveniently raised up on blocks for easy entry and quick exit to and from the killing fields which were rich with mice and moles. Yet he insisted on crossing Lakeshore Road into the woods, because in his words, "Bill, that's where the really big rodents roam." It was a day-to-day war that I lost but never quit on because I'm a guy and guys, at least on paper, are supposed to be smarter than cats. (Most people would have quit when they saw what Weggie did on that paper. But not me.)

I once caught Weggie approaching but not crossing Lakeshore Road. Maneuvering myself between him and the thoroughfare, I was able to drive him back toward the house with two shots from my trusty Italian-made starter's pistol. Showing unexceptional speed for a guy wearing slippers and with two arthroscoped knees, I cornered Weggie under one of the cottages. Crawling on my belly to grab the little trespasser for the up close and personal road lecture, we reached the point where I couldn't go any further but he couldn't get past me to escape.

We settled in for one of those long sieges, that usually gets called off on account of darkness, when out of the corner of my eye I noticed the toad, which I had also cornered. This was a large toad with warts the size of quarters and eyes that took up most of its head.

Weggie didn't see the toad until it took a quick, short hop. Then he hunched down low like it would make him invisible, thumped his tails, wiggled his bum and just before he pounced he remembered that little matter of a stand-off with this really angry man with a gun. The bum stopped wiggling and he sat up again. This kill, he thought, would take some careful cat scamming. That's when all three of us heard the lady from Bell Telephone say: "Please hang up and try your call again. If you need assistance, dial your operator."

In my haste to get to the road before he crossed it, I jammed my portable phone into my shirt. Hitting the ground under the cottage had activated the ON button. Why did I need the phone with me? Because even in combat and trench warfare, it was in my best interests to maintain direct communications with my near ninety-year-old mother who had recently taken to calling me Bobby.

Both Weggie and the toad stared at the telephone. There's no question both of them needed assistance but I was clearly in charge. Phone in hand, gun in the other – this was Die Hard/The Embarrassment.

And I think I could have settled things peacefully. I think I could have saved a toad and captured a cat. I think I could have walked out into the seas of television cameras and boom microphones and said: "Ah shucks, I'm no hero, I just done what any guy would have done."

If it hadn't been for the phone call. RINNNNGGGG!

Spooked, the toad made a series of quick, strong leaps and hopped toward me. Weggie from a no-huddle offensive, dove for the toad. I snatched the toad out of harm's way and he gratefully peed all over my hand. I tossed him toward freedom. I grabbed Weggie by the scruff of his neck with the other hand. He screamed and raked my wrist. As I heaved backward my head bumped a beam and my chest hit the ground activating the ON button. It was my mother.

"Bill, is that you?"

"Mom, not now, please!"

"I was just wondering how you are, dear."

"I'm kind of busy at the moment. Mom, can I call you back?"

"Oh sure," she said. "I've got nothing better to do than sit here and wait for the phone to ring. You're the one with the life."

"Mom, I'm in a bit of a jam. Could you call John Grant my neighbour and ask him to come to Crazy Mary's cottage and pull me out from under it ... by my feet?"

"I suppose you think that's funny," she said, before hanging up.

Assessing the situation, I wondered how single-handedly, I had managed to drop guys from third place on the Mammal Intelligence Rankings behind women and dolphins to ninth behind cats and amphibians. I was also wondering if you get warts from toad pee, or does toad pee cure warts? I forget. Then the Bell lady told me to please hang up and try my call again so I crawled out from under the cottage backwards and took my cat home. I think I learned a valuable lesson from it all and one day, when I take another hit in the head, I'm sure it will come to me.

Rainbow Schools Receive Student Voice SpeakUp Project Grants

Innovative projects are being implemented in Rainbow Schools thanks to funding provided by the Ministry of Education's Student Voice program. Ten Rainbow Schools will share a total of $14,500 in SpeakUp Project grants to support the Ministry's renewed vision of Achieving Excellence. Student Voice funds projects that help promote important initiatives such as healthy schools, student success, and equity and inclusive education. "It is important for students to have an opportunity to lead projects that contribute to their overall education," says Norm Blaseg, Director of Education for Rainbow District School Board. "The SpeakUp grants allow students to be heard and to take action. Students not only develop leadership skills, they encourage collaboration and foster student success." While each SpeakUp project varies from school to school, the initiatives have one thing in common - they are intended to strengthen student voice. "We commend students, under the guidance of principals and teachers, for leading activities to promote excellence in Rainbow Schools," adds Director Blaseg. "With their efforts and the support of the Ministry of Education, we have a number of exciting projects taking place for the benefit of students." Locally, A.B. Ellis Public School will provide opportunities to promote First Nation, Métis and Inuit perspectives through equity and inclusive education and Espanola High School will host a Pow Wow to showcase First Nation, Métis and Inuit culture such as dancing, singing, drumming and art.

Curling Club News

Photo: Once again, youth curling benefitted from the efforts of Bill Giles, Susan Cairns and all of the volunteers who ran the Espanola Legion meat roll offs for the months of November and February. The children accepted a cheque in the amount of $2,786. Domtar also made a generous contribution which was matched by Webbwood resident Chuck Lafoley.

The Baxter Cup celebrated its 91st anniversary in February. Started in 1925, the cup challenge is a home and away series with five games at each of the Espanola and Little Current curling clubs. Four trustees from both clubs are responsible for seeing that the tradition of the cup is carried out. They are: Bill Lewis, John Hodder from Little Current and Mike Walls and Jack Tait from Espanola. In curling action, Espanola curlers took four of five games in Little Current, which put them at 17 points. Games in Espanola were much closer, with the point break down at 36-32, and Espanola retaining the cup for the second year in a row. The Jacklin Cup is the "little sister" to the Baxter and has been played for 36 years. The cup was donated to the Little Current and Espanola clubs by Blake Jacklin, former Baxter Cup trustee. The Espanola ladies were leading at home by eight points, but in the end, Little Current retains the cup for another year.

the service is a great alternative to using the local ER for non-urgent medical conditions. MedviewMD founder Dan Nead says, "The only thing that's consistent, and this is across the country, is the necessity [for medical care]. Our goal is to see as many people as we can." He says MedviewMD has partnered with pharmacies, as it is a natural fit. "We now have 60 to 70 locations in Ontario, and we will be expanding across the country," Nead says. "In the meantime, we're really looking forward to being part of the community here in Espanola."

Family Life With Mother's May I!

This recipe is super simple but tastes just like a high end Boston Cream cake. This cake is so simple to make because it uses a store bought cake mix, boxed pudding and store bought frosting. It's perfect for when you are in a hurry and need a quick dessert. If you are a fan of cream filled desserts then this recipe is a must try.

Boston Cream Poke Cake

- 1 box yellow cake mix (plus box ingredients)
- 2 small boxes (3.4 oz) instant vanilla pudding mix
- 4 cups milk
- 1 container chocolate frosting

Prepare cake in 13"x9" pan according to box directions. Allow to cool until just slightly warm. Use spoon handle to poke holes evenly across cake. Combine milk and pudding mix and whisk until well blended. Pour pudding over cake making sure it gets down into holes. Refrigerate cake for several hours to allow pudding to settle and set up. Open frosting container and remove foil seal. Microwave for 15 seconds and stir. Repeat this until frosting is pourable. Pour over pudding layer and spread with spatula to cover completely. Refrigerate for at least several more hours.

Public Health Notice on Water Fluoridation

On Monday, April 11, Nairn & Hyman Town Council will consider removing fluoride from the community's water supply.

"As your Medical Officer of Health, I know how poor oral health affects overall health. Painful tooth decay remains the most common chronic disease in Canadian children and causes much avoidable suffering and stigma. Water fluoridation can protect against tooth decay and is internationally recognized as an effective and cost efficient way of protecting everyone's oral health. Adding fluoride to the water provides the preventive effects of fluoride to individuals who may not be able to afford other types of fluoride, such as toothpaste and professional treatments. The evidence and experience elsewhere is clear that a decision to remove community water fluoridation in Nairn & Hyman would be expected to result in worse oral health among residents, especially children, seniors and those least able to afford dental care."

Dr. Penny Sutcliffe, Medical Officer of Health
Sudbury & District Health Unit

- Fluoride is a mineral that exists naturally in virtually all water supplies, even the ocean. Usually, however, the amount of fluoride is too low to prevent tooth decay. This is why many communities in Canada add a small amount to reach the level proven to protect teeth.
- The leading health experts endorse community water fluoridation as a safe, effective way to reduce cavities. These experts include the Canadian Dental Association, the Canadian Pediatric Society, Health Canada, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, and the World Health Organization.
- Using fluoride toothpaste is important, but it doesn't give maximum protection against cavities. Drinking fluoridated water provides crucial added protection against tooth decay, and many studies prove it.
- Canada is one of the birthplaces of community water fluoridation. Our dental and medical officials from the 1940s were pioneers who helped conduct the initial research proving that fluoridation significantly reduces cavities. Many other countries have since followed our lead.
- Canada has a tradition of fortifying foods and beverages with vitamins and minerals to protect human health. For example, Vitamin D is added to milk, and folic acid is added to bread and pasta. Adding fluoride to water is one more way we help keep children and adults healthy.
- Fluoridation's positive impact is supported by hundreds of studies and nearly 70 years of experience. Some of these studies have been conducted within the past few years.

For additional accurate information on community water fluoridation, visit the Health Unit's website at www.sdhu.com or call 705.522.9200, ext. 236 (toll-free 1.866.522.9200).

CUPE

CUPE represents over 30,000 social services workers in the Province of Ontario. We work hard to provide care to people with developmental disabilities, providing child care, working with families in crisis and delivering programs such as Ontario Works. Government cuts force cuts to the people we serve. Social service workers are leading campaigns to defend our work.

99.3 Moose FM Espanola's Biggest Variety

Moose Corner

The Espanola Fibre Arts Festival Committee is selling rain barrels as a fundraiser for the 5th annual festival. Coordinator Jody Pilon says the fundraiser is a natural progression following the overwhelming success of the Coral Reef Project last year, which highlighted the ecological importance of coral reefs. This year's focus will be on water itself. The annual budget for the festival is around $30,000 and the money raised from the sale of the rain barrels will help offset those expenses. Order them at <https://rainbarrel.ca/espanola/> or at the Knight Cruisers annual Cruise-In on Saturday, May 28.
