Tonya Harding – Famous For Being Infamous

Oh man, how I've missed Tonya Harding. But mourn no more because the hick chick with a thing for knee caps and pickup trucks is back with a vengeance ... and a double axle to grind. Her biopic I Tonya is now being released in cinemas everywhere. (Personally, I still think Take A Knee – The Tonya Harding Story would have been a better title.) And as if that was not enough for one feisty, unindicted co-conspirator, her ABC television special Truth And Lies: The Tonya Harding Story will air Thursday, January 11th. (Apparently the title Still In Denial After 24 Years had been promised to O. J. Simpson.) You'll recall "The Whack Heard Around The World" scandal that followed the assault on Tonya's arch rival Nancy Kerrigan as they prepped for the 1994 Olympics in Norway. The plot to damage Kerrigan's knee involved Tonya's husband Jeff Gillooly whom she married at age 19. Next in the chain of command came Tonya's bodyguard Shawn Eckardt, then Shane Stant who wielded the telescoped baton and Derrick Smith, the getaway driver. Shawn Eckardt got caught because he bragged to everybody he knew that he'd been involved. The stick man, Shane Stant got caught because on the run, he checked into a hotel under his correct name. Gillooly got caught because anyone who'd ever met him identified him as an idiot and Tonya should have got caught because police positively identified her handwriting on an incriminating note about the planning of the attack but she didn't. Instead she pleaded guilty to hindering the prosecution, serving her time under trailer park arrest.

This event, one of the most unbelievable sports events of our times just had to be the inspiration for the movie Dumb And Dumber which came out the same year. Jeff Gillooly was characterized as "the brains" behind the operation in the same way that LiAngelo Ball was the brains behind the caper in which three UCLA basketball players were jailed for shoplifting sunglasses in China, a country so polluted nobody can see the sun anymore.

Nancy Kerrigan not only recovered from the attack, but skated two of the best performances of her career at those Olympics. In short, four guys with criminal minds and a metal baton failed to take out a skinny girl in a tutu. The gang that couldn't organize a piss-up at a brew pub.

In the lexicon of American slang, Jeff's last name became a verb. "To Gillooly" means to screw up something simple on a monumental scale. (In golf "To van Velde" is to blow an insurmountable lead by steadfastly sticking to a strategy that is stupid from the get go.) Oddly enough, the Harding/Gillooly scandal hit the news at the same time as the John Wayne Bobbitt calamity in which John Wayne's wife Lorena cut off his "Gillooly."

And as if that were not enough (please, somebody whack my writing hand with a telescoping baton) both these nefarious events took place just before the Lillehammer Olympics and after John Wayne Bobbitt suffered the cruelest cut a man can manage, that became my nickname for him – Lillehammer! (Before, not after the reattachment surgery.) Wait! Where was I? Oh yeah, the knee capping of Olympic star Nancy Kerrigan in which Tonya Harding was allegedly involved in the same way Charles Manson was allegedly involved in the "Manson Murders."

As a pack-a-day smoker who suffered from asthma, Tonya Harding always danced to the beat of a different drummer. Make that an arthritic drummer fired by fellow members of an unnamed garage band.

Tonya Harding moved on from her escapades, trying a lot of different ventures to stay in the spotlight and keep up payments on that truck.

Tonya's stint as manager for the wrestling stable Los Gringos Locos did not last and her band The Golden Blades were booed off stage at their one and only performance in Portland, Oregon in 1995. Her low budget movie Breakaway did not and what should have been a natural role for her, TruTV's The Smoking Gun Present World's Dumbest flopped. Her boxing career was short lived but did include a win on Fox's Celebrity Boxing over Paula Jones, a Clinton accuser.

In the summer of 2010 Tonya drove a 1931 Ford Model A named Lickity-Split to a land speed record of 97 mph on the Bonneville Salt Flats. She was pregnant at the time.

Tonya Harding's one constant is to remain one of America's most distrusted and disliked women. Her new movie and TV special will do little to change this perception and being soundly endorsed by President Donald Trump - "Oh, I like Tonya" - is just like being thrown a concrete life preserver.

Not the sharpest blade in the skate rack, I always thought that if Tonya Harding ever did realize her dream and win an Olympic gold medal, the first thing she would do when she got it home was have it bronzed.

PROVINCIAL NEW YEAR'S NEWS:

Ontario Providing Free Drug Coverage To 24 And Under

OHIP+ Children and Youth Pharmacare launched January 1st, to help families and young adults in Ontario get the prescriptions they need without having to worry about the cost.

More than 4,400 prescription medications are now free for children and youth age 24 and under.

People can search Ontario's new medication coverage tool to see if their drugs are covered under OHIP+ available online.

www.ontario.ca/page/learn-about-ohip-plus#section-1

All people need to do is present their Ontario health card number along with a valid prescription at an Ontario pharmacy and medicine will be provided free of charge.

Ontario's Minimum Wage is now $14 an Hour

The minimum wage increase is officially in place in Ontario.

As of January 1st, people across Ontario saw their wages rise to $14 an hour as the new general minimum wage takes effect.

As part of Ontario's Fair Workplaces, Better Jobs Act, 2017, the minimum wage will increase again to $15 an hour on January 1, 2019, to be followed by annual increases at the rate of inflation.

Other provisions of the new provincial legislation that came into effect on New Year's Day include: ensuring workers are entitled to at least three weeks' vacation after five years with the same employer; expanding the 10 days per calendar year for personal emergency leave in workplaces with fewer than 50 employees, with at least two paid days per year for employees who have been employed for at least a week; family medical leave from 8 to 28 weeks per year and changes to make forming a union and reaching a first collective agreement easier.

New Care Van For Espanola Area Seniors

Espanola will be getting a new care van for its seniors in the New Year.

In mid-December, Around&About announced Espanola was receiving $45,000 in funding for public transit, funds that come from tax dollars collected at the pumps.

However, Espanola does not have any public transit except for the care van that is used to transport seniors, so the funding will be used for operating costs for the vehicle. The town has also received funds for a bigger van with accommodation for wheelchairs and other assistive devices.

That new van will be coming in 2018.

Electric Car Hookups

There are plans to have electric car hookups installed across the North, including Espanola.

Tesla switched on its first electric car charging station in Northern Ontario last month and it won't be the last.

It's in the parking lot of a busy shopping centre on Long Lake Road in the south end of Sudbury.

The new Tesla station will only work for vehicles of that brand.

There are seven charging stations in Sudbury and another two dozen are planned across the northeast.

The Sudbury station is the first to come online, while most others are estimated to be in service by the end of 2018.

According to the Tesla Canada website, the company has plans to roll out 15 SuperCharger sites across Northern Ontario along the Trans-Canada Highway, including North Bay, Espanola, Blind River, Sault Ste. Marie, Batchewana Bay and Wawa.

Possible Bus Transit On Manitoulin Island

While the United Manitoulin Transportation Group is still proceeding to a feasibility study to provide transportation across the Island and filling current gaps in service, its focus has changed.

This focus has changed as the result of the provincial government announcing it is expanding bus service across Northern Ontario as well as travel options in underserved areas, including Manitoulin Island.

The group will be carrying out a feasibility study but expanding it from select communities to the entire Island, which would be connected with bus services out of Espanola.

Government officials from various ministries have stated they will be looking to provide a bus service for Manitoulin Island on the main routes, Highways 6 and Highway 540, but at this point haven't determined how far west on the Island they will be going.

As far as funding for the transportation feasibility study for Manitoulin, the group has qualified through FedNor for the first step and is now moving onto the second phase to continue researching the plan.

Recipe

My co-worker kindly shared this original recipe with me that she created for her husband. You can make your own meatball recipe and pie pastry, or you can take the easy way out and buy readymade meatballs and pie dough; either way it will be delicious.

Doreen's Meatball Pie

- 4 cups of small meatballs
- 1 carrot, chopped small
- 1 potato, chopped small
- 2 cups of fresh mushrooms, halved
- 2 small onions, chopped
- 1 package of gravy mix plus 1 ½ cups of liquid
- 1 pie crust recipe or ready-made pie dough
- Spices to taste (salt, pepper, parsley, thyme, marjoram- any spices you prefer)

Make meatballs. Brown well. Partially cook carrots and potatoes. Combine all ingredients in large casserole dish. Cover with pie crust. Bake at 400 degrees for approximately 1 hour or until crust is well browned.
