Espanola Looking To Celebrate Its Seniors

By Rosalind Russell - June is Seniors' Month in Ontario and 2018 marks the 34th Annual Seniors' Month. The theme this year is: "Now's the time to start something new," highlighting how aging does not prevent any senior from leading fulfilling lives. Senior Appreciation Day is Tuesday, June 12th in Espanola and there are various activities at the Espanola Regional Recreation Centre including aquafit, free seniors social and lunch and movie starting at 10:00am. Still with the story, pickleball has arrived in Espanola, an excellent option for seniors according to tennis and

Veteran coach, general manager and scout Dave Clancy is returning to the Northern Ontario Jr. Hockey League as the new bench boss of the Espanola Express, Hockey News North has confirmed.

The no-nonsense, albeit affable Clancy boards the Express and takes over from fellow NOJHL veteran Tom McCarthy as the new head coach in Espanola.

Under McCarthy, the Express finished last overall in the 12-team NOJHL in 2017-2018 and missed the playoffs for a second successive season.

Clancy, who most-recently coached in the NOJHL for the Rayside-Balfour Canadians over parts of the past two seasons, brings a tidy and impressive resume to Espanola.

He has had championship success in the NOJHL as coach and general manager of the erstwhile Sudbury Junior Wolves. Clancy has also coached the Laurentian Voyageurs of Ontario University Athletics.

Known as a trustworthy, honest individual, Clancy also has a scouting past as a regional scout with the Sudbury Wolves of the Ontario Hockey League.

Half Marathon A Challenge For Three Local Runners

Three Espanola women spent the June 2nd weekend in Niagara Falls, but it wasn't just to enjoy the view.

Heather Wilson, Tammy Sheppard and Leanne Bowerman-St. Pierre all competed at the Niagara Falls Women's Half Marathon with 1,100 participants taking part. However, Bowerman suffered an injury and Sheppard stayed back to assist her, but they finished.

Wilson finished the race in the top half with a 453rd place finish.

Heather Wilson, Tammy Sheppard and Leanne Bowerman-St. Pierre proudly show off their medals from the Niagara Falls Women's Half Marathon.

Never Misjudge A Book By Its Title

So I'm lining up my summer reading list, starting with The Dutch Wife which so far, I cannot put down. Then there's Stalin's Daughter by Rosemary Sullivan and The Purchase by Linda Spalding. Anything I can get my hands on by Julian Barnes. Same with Richard Russo and Richard Ford. Man's Search For Meaning by Viktor E. Frankl which I read every summer.

And then there's Ask Me About My Uterus by ... Whoops! Wrong list. That book is on my "Thousand Things I Must Not Do Before I Die!" list. Not sure how that book is selling, but Abby Norman: you have come up with one helluva show-stopper of a title.

Have you seen some of the bizarre book titles that are listed on Amazon? And selling as well? Like Natural Bust Enlargement With Total Mind Power. Sounds like Uri Geller has gone too far this time. Down Home Gynecology lists about forty tips you never want the children to try in their spare time.

In the category of books aimed at a very narrow audience we have How To Avoid Huge Ships and Reusing Old Graves.

The question of Are Women Human? is made more specific in How To Succeed In Business Without A Penis.

Children do not fare well in a few recently published books. Monsters Eat Whiny Children might keep some of them in line, but How To Raise Your IQ By Eating Grilled Children is bound to cause nightmares. To each author of those books I say: YOU ARE A BAD ASS. (Also a title on Amazon.)

And if you're waiting for the "feel good comedy of the year," it certainly won't be adapted from the book Another Bullshit Night In Suck City.

Some good advice in Stop Dressing Your Six-Year-Old Like A Skank. Some not-so-good advice in Ragnar's Guide To Home And Recreational Use Of High Explosives. And when you find a copy of The Practical Pyromaniac under Jimmy's bed – call the cops!

There are a bunch of oddly amusing titles out there like How To Land A Top-Paying Pierogi Makers Job. Also, You Suck! (A Love Story). And Anybody Can Be Cool ... But Awesome Takes Some Practise.

Somehow The Jewish-Japanese Sex & Cookbook And How To Raise Wolves makes little sense, but O.J. Simpson – I Didn't Not Not Kill Nobody sounds about right for "The Juice."

???Are you talking about If I Did It???

Similarly Nostradamus Ate My Hamster is pretty far fetched, but I swear I will get my hands on The Lull Before The Dorking! I don't get it, but I do like Tooth Imprints On A Corn Dog and We Got Zombies On The Lawn Again, Ma.

However, there seems to be no explanation whatsoever for the book Eeeee Eee Eeee!

In the battle between the sexes, score one for Mary McHugh and her book: If I Get Hit By A Bus Tomorrow, Here's How To Replace The Toilet Paper Roll: A Woman's Instructional Guide For Men. Men are often portrayed as helpless and unfocused in books by women or as one title describes it: Half Asleep In Frog Pajamas.

Scatology is well explored in newly-released titles. Hard to deny Taro Gomi's truism: Everyone Poops. Just asking not to be lied to, a book by TV's Judge Judy (Sheindlin) pleads: Don't Pee On My Leg And Tell Me It's Raining. Then there's Chicken Poop For The Soul. (Man, is that franchise running low on ideas!) The Nancy Drew Mystery Series also hit rock bottom with Who Sharted In My Bed? There's also Cooking With Poo by ... wait for it ... Thai chef Khun Poo. And perhaps the title that covers the whole crappy category best is The Origin Of Feces. (Darwin's body just floated to the surface off the Galapagos Islands.) Perhaps all of the above will be swept away by Reepah Gud Wan's book: The Zen Of Farting.

In the category of "writers being honest with book titles" comes: The Cat With The Really Big Head And Another Story That Isn't As Good. Not to be confused with Hello Kitty Must Die. And just for the record there is no dominatrix in a very old book that's innocently titled: Scouts In Bondage.

And here to dispel that age-old theory – never to judge a book by its cover comes This Book And Title Have Nothing To Do With This Book. New theory: maybe you have to judge a book by the cover of the book next to it.

And the most honest book title of this summer goes to: This Is The Best Book I've Ever Written, And It Still Sucks! (This Isn't Really My Best Book). Doubt about the quality and success of a book creeps into the mind of every writer as you press "SEND" to your publisher. But seldom of us ever put those black thoughts on the cover. Also, hard to make a living with Jarod Kintz's This Book Is Not For Sale.

I need to go have a nap now. I have this terrible feeling There's A Wocket In My Pocket and I have no idea what a 'wocket' is!

Espanola Commuter Cycle Plan

Bike month officially kicked off in Espanola with a public bike tour on Friday, June 1st. The community is also invited to participate in an online survey at espanola.ca.

The month will wrap up on June 27th with a Stakeholder Consultation Workshop and a Community Consultation Session.

Espanola Looking To Celebrate Its Seniors

pickleball enthusiast, Daphne Allen.

Allen says the tennis courts at the Espanola Golf & Country Club have been revamped to accommodate the sport, which is a good one for anyone of any age, but is also great for seniors.

Pickleball is a game resembling tennis in which players use paddles to hit a perforated plastic ball over a net.

Allen says members usually come out between 8:00am and 10:00am, but the courts are available at any time.

The Town of Espanola also held a dedication of the Allen Benches in memory of Daphne's husband and son.

Her husband, Don, who loved tennis, passed away earlier this year while her son, David, a tennis pro, died last year. The benches are located at the courts for everyone's relaxation.

The Robinson-Huron Treaty Court Case Closing Arguments Have Begun.

On Sunday, June 3rd, Judge Patricia Hennessey, legal counsels and chiefs were invited to take part in a sweat lodge ceremony, sacred fire and feast at Atikameksheng Anishinaabek First Nation, the day before the court proceedings were to move ahead with closing arguments. Last year, 21 Anishinaabek communities under the Robinson Huron Treaty took the Ontario and Canadian government to court over the Crown's failure to implement the terms of the 1850 treaty.

At issue is that beneficiaries have received no increase to the four-dollar annuity since 1874. Closing arguments have begun and are being held at the Sudbury's Radisson Hotel.

The treaty territory includes about 35,700 square miles of land on the northern shores of Lake Huron including all the First Nations along the North Shore corridor and Manitoulin Island.

Dean Sayers is the RHT annuities case spokesperson and Batchewana First Nation Chief. He hopes to see the treaty augmentation clause modernized.

"I'm looking forward to hearing the chronological summary, all the way up to where we are today. It may not be the prettiest story, but it is the truth about how we came to where we are," said Sayers.

David Nahwegahbow is the RHT lawyer.

"A major part of this case is about resurgence of Anishinaabe law, Anishinaabe culture, and Anishinaabe people. We want to make sure that Anishinaabe law is well recognized, that the court hears the important historical context of the time and that the court understands what Anishinaabe law is," said Nahwegahbow.

The case is precedent setting because it is the first time a court case is being heard on both the merits of Canadian and Anishinaabe Law, which has historically leaned heavily towards the Canadian side.

Remaining closing hearing dates of phase 1 are: June 4-8; June 14-15 and June 18-22.

A ruling is expected in the coming months and if a settlement is not reached, the process will enter phase two in the spring of 2019.

THE CASE IS BEING LIVESTREAMED: <https://livestream.com/firsttel>

The Sudbury and White River trains resumed their normal schedules following the tentative agreement reached by the International Brotherhood of Electrician Workers and CP.

Freight operations have also renewed their schedules, which means deliveries to Domtar in Espanola and EACOM in Nairn Centre will continue.

THANK YOU

THANK YOU -The family of Clayton Hembruff would like to thank everyone for their sympathy and support following the loss of our father. Thank you to the staff and members of the United Church of Espanola who visited Dad throughout his stay at the Espanola Nursing Home and to those who helped us with the celebration of his life. It was a beautiful service and the luncheon that followed was excellent. Thank you to Bourcier Funeral Home for the compassionate assistance we received during this difficult time. A heartfelt thank you to the staff of Espanola Nursing Home. You are amazing! You treated Dad with respect and caring and for that we will always be grateful. Sincerely, Karen, Linda and Nancy

THANK YOU

Thank You

No gift means as much as the gift of love. We are so blessed to have such wonderful family and friends.

You made this special day the most memorable one, with the awesome surprise party for our 65th birthdays / 45th anniversary.

Most love to our wonderful kids, Jamey and Whitney, who managed (with finesse and lots of subterfuge), to make sure our magic day was a total surprise and Jonathan and Linda who contributed wholeheartedly.

So much love to Our grandchildren (and Grace's friends) who perpetuated the stories without any error (scary).

Thank you for surprising us with such a spectacular time with the people we love.... Thank you!!!

We are the luckiest people in the world, surrounded with people who took all the pains to make our day a special one.

Thank you for your presence, all the lovely cards and gifts, beautiful messages and warm wishes on our anniversary. Thank you to All of those who brought food.

Mostly, thank you for your gift of love as you shared in our precious occasion.

Bruce and Catherine Gray

Our life is complete as we are blessed with the total love of family and friends.

Recipe

These potatoes are extra crispy on the outside and fluffy on the inside. They taste like French fries except they're buttery. You can make these with small or medium potatoes. Small ones will come out crisper (like finger food that you can pick up), whereas larger ones have the same crispiness on the surface but you get a fluffier potato on the inside. These will be your new favourite way to make potatoes. Make as many as you can fit on the tray once they are smashed; as long as they aren't touching each other.

Crispy Smashed Potatoes

Servings:
12 (depending on size of potato)

- 1.4 lb small potatoes
- 3 tbsp unsalted butter, melted
- 1 tbsp olive oil
- Salt and pepper
- Finely chopped parsley, optional garnish

1. Bring a pot of water to boil. Cook potatoes until soft - small ones should take around 20 to 25 minutes, large ones might take 30 minutes. It's ok if the skin splits. They also can be steamed or microwaved.
2. Preheat oven to 350 degrees.
3. Drain the potatoes and let them dry in the colander for 5 minutes or so.
4. Place on the tray then use a large fork or potato masher to squish them, keeping them in one piece. The thinner, the crispier.
5. Leave on the tray to steam dry for 5 minutes or so, this makes them crispier.
6. Drizzle with butter, then just a bit of olive oil (about 1/4 tsp on each). Sprinkle with salt and pepper.
7. Bake for 40 minutes or until deep golden and crispy. Do not flip!
8. Serve hot, sprinkled with parsley if desired.
