New Espanola Subdivision Gets Initial Approval

By Rosalind Russell - Espanola council unanimously approved a proposal from a long-time developer for a new subdivision in the town's south end.

George Wade had originally looked at developing the Brentwood Village subdivision over 30 years ago, but the project was halted following the former Mike Harris government's freeze on new builds.

However, Wade had kept the project front of mind and now has the town approval to move ahead on developing 27 new housing units geared to seniors. He says he wants to develop one three-unit townhouse and six four-unit rowhouses in the south end of town.

There were several people in attendance at the hearing on February 27th with a variety of questions.

Wade reassured them that the project is well developed, it is in fact in phase 3, and all the details are available for anyone who wants see the blueprints and plans for the area.

Wade says all the costs are borne by him as the developer including sidewalks, maintenance and everything will be done to retain the natural beauty of the area. The vacant property lies kitty corner behind the Tim Hortons and runs parallel to the Queensway Avenue all the way down to Rainbow Concrete. Wade says the units will be available

Ultimate Recycling – Turning Litter Into Money

Oh, I know there are more serious problems in this world than the one that has my knickers in a knot. Like that 5.4 million square mile hot tub we used to call the Arctic. Or the fact that nuclear weapons are now in the hands of a man with a cereal-bowl haircut who uses army-issue binoculars to track an intercontinental ballistic missile travelling seven kilometres per second. Or that the most powerful man in the free world is about to go “button enhancement surgery” so he can Tweet that he has “the largest Johnson of any president of the United States including Lyndon Johnson, the likes of which the world has never seen!” (Although there’s a hooker and a Playboy Bunny who got paid $130,000 to swear they haven’t seen it!) Litter! Public littering makes me ill and angry all at once. To call these lazy, loathsome irresponsible people who make their own personal crap somebody else’s problem ... pigs – is to disparage the behaviour of hogs and sows everywhere. They could only creep biologically closer to swine if they actually oinked when they pitched that coffee cup out the car window. There are two quiet spots out here along Lakeshore Road where people pull over in their cars and admire the view, savour a coffee or enjoy a quick lunch. (At night they pull over and have sex but I’m not sure it’s the same people.) It’s two kilometres from my house or if you’re walking, approximately 700 cigarette butts along the shoulder of the road. That’s one butt for every three strides if you’re counting which I have. Once a rural route that hugged the north shore of Lake Erie, for someone who walks along it every day, Lakeshore Road is now pretty much a long and winding ashtray.

In a neurotic, noisy world these two roadside spots should be tiny, rural oases, places to breathe deep and contemplate, steal a moment of sanity and solitude. However, thanks to the people who frequent these two rest areas, people who are ... how can I put this – a drag on the process of evolution – these two lakeside retreats are now eyesores of human waste.

In between two signs put up by local residents that used to read “Please leave only your footprints” until the trashers ripped them to shreds, you have your complete collage of garbage: 11 Players cigarette packages, 25 Tim Horton coffee cups, seven pop cans, six plastic bags, a dozen McDonald wrappers, several Subway cups and wrappers, a couple Dairy Queen cartons, assorted broken beer bottles, a broken Banff Ice Vodka bottle, an unbroken Smirnoff Vodka mickey, a motor oil container, one brake fluid can, one Heinz Tomato juice can, wrappers and potato chip bags and 40 washed-up bullet casings. (And all of those coffee cups? These are the kind you don't have to roll up the rim to know you're a loser!)

Each site has at least two heaps of cigarette butts from emptied ashtrays. There is an empty plastic package of something called Ant Family which urges the buyer to: "Learn more about ants." "Study mother nature." And "Protect our environment." And this beach called Camelot Bay; truly this is more landfill than Camelot.

There's even a large dead fish in the middle of all this garbage, 50 feet from the water's edge. My guess is he surfaced, took one look at the beach and committed suicide.

So the profile of the classic litterer is someone who smokes heavily, drinks hard liquor and eats fast food. I know what you're thinking: Isn't this problem pretty much going to take care of itself? Well yes, but not fast enough for me.

And I don't think the Township of Wainfleet should have to clean this up. Why should my taxes go to pay Molly Maid service for people who have been immortalized in the song Old McDonald Had A Farm, Ei-igh-ee-igh oh?

Sadly, this is not just a Wainfleet problem. This is a Canada-wide travesty in which we seem to drive with the philosophy that if the window's down, the dump must be open for business. Folks, as a society, we're better than this.

A few years ago a Township near Renfrew, Ontario sent a very serious message to the dumpers and litterers in their community with a hefty $1,000 fine for such offenses. The cost of manpower to clean up all the debris on rural roads was depleting the township budget. Every local government in Canada should follow Renfrew's lead. At $1,000 per pig, this would be a cash cow for communities. Parks with dogs, beaches with picnickers, roadside viewing areas and known dumping spots – send in students with cameras this summer. Pay twenty students to each photograph just five litterers a day and your municipal budget will get a multi-million dollar boost by Labour Day. And Labour Day weekend would also be the period in which litterers in lime-green jumpsuits do their community service work to rid your local area of ... litter. A $1,000 fine and 100 hours of community service and yes, even a cigarette butt qualifies as litter. The inherent health benefit in this new law begs the question: "How long can you keep smoking after you watch your car being towed away in order to pay off your littering fines?"

Singapore – style public caning will be reserved for repeat offenders. That way my ass wouldn't be the only one burning over the issue of litter.

Ban On Door-To-Door Sales Begins March 1

The ban includes those selling air conditioners, furnaces, water filtration systems and services, and more

On March 1, residents can breathe a sigh of relief as door-to-door unsolicited sales becomes illegal regarding certain household appliances. This legislation is aimed at protecting residents from aggressive and misleading contracting at home.

This decision couldn't have come at a better time. According to this reporter, in the past two weeks, I've had two sales people come to my home trying to get me to buy into a new heating system and duct cleaning services.

Starting March 1, businesses can only enter a home if they have been invited in for the purpose of entering a business contract. Contracts that are in violation of the new rules relating to door-to-door contract solicitation will be considered void and the consumers will be able to keep the services with no obligations.

The new rules concerning door-to-door salespeople will apply to:

- Air cleaners
- Air conditioners
- Air purifiers
- Duct cleaning services
- Furnaces
- Water filters
- Water heaters
- Water purifiers
- Water softeners
- Water treatment devices
- Bundles of these goods and services

The ban for door-to-door unsolicited sales began March 1st. as part of Ontario's plan to create fairness and opportunity during a rapid economic change.

4-H Club Completes Community Involvement Project

Members of the Massey 4-H Club completed their first project of 2018 on Thursday, February 22.

Members have been learning about homelessness, community resources, and ways to help those in need.

The major undertaking for members was to make mats from recycled shopping bags. Members collected bags, cut them into strips, joined the strips to make balls of "plarn" (plastic yarn) and then knitted, crocheted, and braided the plarn into mats.

They also welcomed Laurie Olding to the meeting to talk about her recent trip to Guatemala where they learned about the needs to Guatemalans including food security, housing, and lack of medical support.

The Massey 4-H Club will be starting its next project "Chocolate - cooking with and learning about Chocolate" in March.

For more information about 4-H, contact Dianne Emiry 865-2561.

New Espanola Subdivision Gets Initial Approval

for people 55+ and that there will be the option of renting or buying a unit outright.

He says he already has a waiting list and the units are all one storey in design with one or two bedrooms and different options.

Wade also pointed out he has been in touch with local construction and building related businesses who are enthusiastic about the project.

"Brentwood Village is an independent living community designed exclusively for mature adults, 55+, and seniors. It offers an age-exclusive residential enclave in Espanola. It will be located half way between the hospital and half way between the mall, which is important to residents, especially seniors.

"Each residence is over 1,100 square feet and includes two spacious bedrooms, two bathrooms, fully equipped kitchens, in-suite laundry with washer and drying; and features a master suite complete with ensuite bath and walk-in closet.

"Garden home residents will also enjoy their own private driveway, garage, covered porch and landscaped outdoor space."

Wade pointed out all the units will be built as single storey residences with no stairs, energy efficient features, central air and wheelchair accessible features, such as 'roll-in' tiled showers.

Optional services will include housekeeping and 'snowbird' home monitoring.

Mayor Ron Piche commended Wade on his work and initiative in coming forward with the project.

It is not known at this time how many jobs will be created during the construction phase of the project, but it will take three to four years to complete the project.

Council approved consent applications to sever lots and a zoning amendment to move ahead for the building of a road with several stipulations. If all are met, construction will begin when the snow is gone. The first seven units are expected to be available for occupancy in the Spring of 2019.

As for pricing, that is still being fleshed out, but anyone who has any questions or wants more information about buying or renting a unit, is encouraged to call Wade. He can be reached at 1-705-583-2192.

Recipe

I love this cheesy, creamy vegetable casserole. It's a great "make ahead" side dish for company or for your family dinners. The amount of each vegetable can vary; the recipe is a general guideline. Use whatever you have of each vegetable so that it fills the casserole dish that you are using.

Vegetable Casserole

- 10 oz can of cream of mushroom or chicken soup
- ¼ cup milk
- ½ lb grated cheddar cheese, divided
- 3 tbsp chopped onion
- ½ tsp oregano
- 1 can of whole or sliced mushrooms
- 1 bunch of broccoli
- ½ a head of cauliflower
- 2 carrots
- ½ cup breadcrumbs
- butter

Parboil vegetables until just tender crisp. Place in a 9 x 13 casserole dish. Mix in the mushrooms. Combine the soup, milk, ½ the cheese, onion and oregano. Pour over the vegetables. Combine the remaining cheese with the breadcrumbs and sprinkle over the casserole. Dot with butter. Bake at 350 degrees for 40 minutes.

Espanola Royal Canadian Ladies Auxiliary Turn In Their Charter.

The Royal Canadian Legion Ladies Auxiliary in Espanola has ceased to exist.

It was a bittersweet Legion meeting February 21st when the last few members of the Legion Ladies Auxiliary of Branch #39 turned in their charter.

President Pauline McColeman turned over the keys, the last bit of charity dollars raised in 2017 and the charter to Legion President, Gary MacPherson.

She says it was painful, but with only 13 ladies involved, the organization could no longer sustain itself to effectively run the auxiliary.

"We only had 13 members left including one of our oldest, Doreen Bourcier, who is in her nineties now," explained McColeman. "There are so many wonderful memories: weddings we catered, our Remembrance Day Teas, which I loved, the visits by the military and other special guests.

"I remember when former Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson came to visit, and Bob Rae and other political leaders. We had so many special events hosted by our ladies, it is hard to no longer continue the work, but we simply don't have the numbers to continue."

McColeman also pointed out the Ladies usually raised around $10,000 to $15,000 every year during the 82 years the members were active, and all that money was returned to the community, either as bursaries, donations to other charitable organizations, community projects, the Legion, and of course, the veterans and their families.

"That's what we were here for, to equip and assist the Legion. We are honoured to have done so. No one got paid to do this work, it was all volunteer and the Ladies are responsible for the furnishings, the equipment, even the fridges in our bar. And, how proud should we be for literally assisting hundreds of projects and people in our town. I'm very proud of all we have done over the years."

McColeman points out though, that the Legion is still available for special events of all kinds.

"I'm still in touch with a caterer who can assist anyone with their special event whether it is a luncheon, supper or social gathering, wedding, tea or celebration of life. The Legion continues to be an active part of the community, just give the office a call and they can make the arrangements to fill your needs."

The Ladies Auxiliary was formed in 1936.

President MacPherson was saddened to take the charter from McColeman, but says it is going right back up on the wall in honour of the ladies.

"This is a sad day for the Legion. It was back on December 7th, 1926 when our Legion received its original charter. The main objective at that time was the well-being of our veterans and their families. Nothing has changed. We are here to serve those who served for us, as well as the community we live in.

"We can't do this alone. We need help. And we received help when the Ladies Auxiliary received their charter just ten years after our Legion did. The building we enjoy today and its surroundings wouldn't have been possible without their support.

"They have passed on their charter to us tonight, but I can assure you, it is going right back up on the wall beside ours for everyone to see."

MacPherson adds he is worried about the many volunteer organizations in Espanola where the numbers have been dropping dramatically.

"I really do not know how the organizations, such as ours, the Elks, the Knights of Columbus, are going to carry on if we do not encourage the millenials to join us. One day, they are going to look around and we will be gone.

"Ask not what your service club can do for you, but what you can do for your service club."

And, as its last donation to a cause, the auxiliary had five thousand dollars left and handed over the funding to the Legion for the purchase of a new water heater.
