EMERGENCY PREPAREDNESS TIPS

Emergency Preparedness is everyone's responsibility, but not everyone has the means or capacity to deal with emergencies. We encourage you to check on your neighbours to make sure they're okay – knock on their door if you have to – and reach out to family and friends who may need your help during an emergency.

MAKE A PLAN – Create your emergency family plan and practice it.
BUILD A KIT – Get together with your family and put together an emergency kit with enough supplies to last 72 hours (three days).

Visit www.ontario.ca/beprepared for more information.

All The World's A Circus

William Thomas

williamjthomas@gmail.com

At The Roundabout, Does The Bar Stool Yield To The La-Z-Boy?

Thanks to Uber, Lift share and driverless vehicles, man's love affair with his car is coming to a close. However, like everything else he touches, man is determined to end this relationship with a bang... and a crash and probably a police report.

In England, a Brit added enough safety features to children's car to make it street legal. Wind Up is 41 inches high and 26 inches wide and looks like a box of Timbits coming down the road. Too small for doors, the chassis flips up and you pull it back once you're sitting down. Seats one person or 19 circus clowns.

Yet another Brit named Colin Furze built the world's fastest mobility scooter which would allow a handicapped driver to get up to 75 MPH on the open road. Forget about your newborn beating grandpa on his scooter because Furze's baby pram can only go 50 MPH. He's working on the world's fastest toilet. (Not kidding!)

Similarly Joe Starr's pimped out wheel chair with military tank tracks wouldn't stand a chance in a race against the world's fastest office chair invented by German teenagers.

It wasn't all that long ago that Neil Rideout of New Waterford, Nova Scotia was pulled over by police and issued a $222 ticket. He was charged with driving a beer cooler on a public sidewalk. And no, the cooler was not fueled by Neil's natural methane gas emissions from the beer he consumed although if some eco-green company harnesses this kind of space-age flatulent technology, I'm buying shares.

Actually Neil Rideout had not been drinking when the cop pulled his cooler over, nor were there any alcoholic beverages in the cooler. He insisted that the bright red cooler with the white top is his new mode of transportation since he had heart surgery and it should be allowed on public thoroughfares like motorized wheelchairs and scooters.

Neil's cooler runs on a four-wheel chassis with handle-bar steering and comes equipped with four cup holders, a radio, input for an MP3 player and a souped-up 5.5 horsepower engine which tops out at 50 kilometers per hour. Of course you need that kind of speed in case you ever find yourself the target of a cooler jacking and being chased by two guys driving a turbo-charged picnic table.

The arresting officer, who had warned Rideout on two previous occasions about the safety of operating a motorized beer cooler, spent 30 minutes on the phone with his supervisor trying to figure out where exactly a beer cooler fit into the Motorized Vehicle Act. I'm guessing somewhere between a smart car and a fully-loaded Frigidaire.

The conversation I want to hear is the one between Neil Rideout and his insurance agent.

Agent: "Okay, so that's a sports convertible with audio options and a 55-horse with four-wheel drive. What's the make?"

Rideout: "It's a top of the line Coleman with side handles and a veggie tray."

Agent: "Ah, where did you have that surgery agent?"

Visit Nova Scotia where you might hear a cop say: "Sir. Step away from the cooler, now!"

I understand the safety factor involved here but can you imagine Neil Rideout in his turbo-charged beer cooler running into a guy driving a four-cylinder, all-wheel-drive BBQ?!! Then you got yourself what Hemingway called a 'moveable feast.'

Not to be outdone, 49-year-old Dennis Cretan of Bellview, Illinois was recently arrested for drunk driving while speeding away from a gas station on his John Deere lawn mower after purchasing a 12-pack of beer. In an act that speaks more about the power of beer than the lawn mower, Dennis tried to outrun a police cruiser as cans of Milwaukee's Best spilled onto the street.

Am I the only one, except for the arresting officer who thinks that selling beer in gas stations is a really bad idea? Isn't that like presenting a free loaded gun to every customer who opens a savings account at your bank?

Not to be outdone, 28-year-old Kile Wygle of Newark, Ohio consumed 15 cans of beer and then crashed while driving his custom-built motorized bar stool. Kile and his bar stool were approaching top speed of 38 miles per hour when he lost control of his one-seat vehicle.

And guess what? Yup, no air bag.

A few things became painfully obvious as this litany of ugly incidents involving vehicles that are not technically vehicles unfolded. First, no woman has ever been charged with driving drunk while going 40 miles-per-hour on a hopped-up Hoover vacuum cleaner or any other household appliance.

Second, we now need to update our vehicular drunk driving laws to include everything from love seats to toaster ovens while keeping a special eye on ... not making this up ... La-Z-Boy chairs. Recently 62-year-old Dennis Anderson of Proctor, Minnesota was arrested while driving a motorized recliner chair just before producing an alcohol level four times over the legal limit. His comfortable and yet durable chair had been outfitted with a stereo system, headlights and an 8-horsepower Kohler engine.

I'm guessing Anderson would say he needed the headlights in order to avoid one of those idiots driving a beer cooler after dark. I know all this amounts to dangerous driving on our roads, but I would kill to see a guy weaving down the highway behind the wheel of a La-Z-Boy recliner with another guy sitting in the bar-stool sidecar.

All things considered maybe it is time that technology took our car keys away.

More Remains Found In Nelson Lake Road Area

More remains have been found following an extensive search in the Nelson Lake Road area. Greater Sudbury Police communications co-ordinator Kaitlyn Dunn says a human skull was found on the weekend leading to an extensive grid ground search by police and North Shore Search and Rescue over the last two days.

Dr. Scott Fairgrieve from the Centre of Forensic Science was also on the scene yesterday where a human skull was located on Saturday May 25th.

Dunn says the search yielded additional human bones, which have been turned over to the Coroner's Office and the centre to carry out additional tests to determine the identity of the individual and the cause of death.

They will determine, as best they can, gender and possible age of the individual.

According to the Greater Sudbury Police, there are 11 people who have gone missing from the Sudbury area between 1974 and 2015 including former Espanola resident, Meaghan Pilon, who was last seen on September 12th, 2015.

OPP Police Briefs

(ESPANOLA, ON) - On May 13, 2019 at approximately 7:00 a.m., members from the Manitoulin Detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police (OPP) responded to a complaint of a stolen truck from a business in Espanola, Ontario.

The investigation revealed that the truck was stolen the previous evening May 12, 2019. The stolen truck was later recovered stuck in mud off Panache Lake Road, Sudbury District, Ontario.

As a result of the investigation, a 17-year-old youth from Espanola, Ontario has been charged with;

- Break, Enter a Place - with Intent to Commit Indictable Offence, contrary to section 348(1)(a) of the Criminal Code (CC); and
- Theft of a Motor Vehicle, contrary to section 333.1 of the CC.
- A 15-year-old youth from Espanola, Ontario has been charged with:
- Break, Enter a Place - with Intent to Commit Indictable Offence, contrary to section 348(1)(a) of the CC;
- Theft of Motor Vehicle, contrary to section 333.1 of the CC; and
- Fail to Comply with Sentence - two counts, contrary to section 137 of the Youth Criminal Justice Act.

Both youths are scheduled to appear before the Ontario Court of Justice in Espanola on June 17, 2019.

The youth cannot be identified under provisions of the Youth Criminal Justice Act (YCJA).

(ESPANOLA, ON) - On May 26, 2019, an officer from the Manitoulin detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police (OPP) was conducting a traffic stop with his emergency lights activated, when another vehicle failed to move over for the police vehicle. The officer located that vehicle and conducted a stop.

While speaking with the driver, the officer detected a strong odour of cannabis within the vehicle. A quantity of cannabis resin and cash was seized. The estimated street value of the seized items is over $10,000. As a result of the investigation, 50-year-old John GAUDET of Miscouche, Prince Edward Island, has been charged with the following:

- Fail to Move into Another Lane for Emergency Vehicle or Tow Truck
- If Safe to do, contrary to section 159(3) of the Highway Traffic Act;
- Possession of a Schedule II substance for the Purpose of Trafficking, contrary to section 5(2) of the Controlled Drugs and Substances Act; and
- Possession of Proceeds of Property Obtained by Crime Over $5000, contrary to section 354(1)(a) of the Criminal Code.

The accused is scheduled to appear before the Ontario Court of Justice in Sudbury for a bail hearing on May 28, 2019.

The Ontario Move Over Law requires drivers to slow down when approaching an emergency vehicle or a tow truck on the roadside with its amber lights flashing and, on roads with two or more lanes, move over and leave a lane of space between you and the emergency vehicle if it is safe to do so.

Espanola Council Approves Site Plan For New Business

Another new business is opening in Espanola and it was welcome news to Espanola council.

Espanola Deputy Mayor Bill Foster says the site plan for a new car wash being built by Ryan Bulloch was presented May 28th, and that is all ready to go, but he did not agree with a part of the motion that asked for the security deposit be waived. Foster says he worries it would set a precedent for other developments and sometimes projects fall through.

He explained the security deposit helps the town recover any possible costs if such a scenario occurs.

Fellow councillors agreed with him and moved that the motion be amended to approve the site plan and it is to include a letter of security for $25,000.

Construction is already underway and is expected to be completed by early summer.

No Live-Streaming In Sables-Spanish Rivers

There will be no live-streaming or videotaping in Sables-Spanish Rivers Township for the time being.

Councillor Glenda Massicotte says council decided that with the Internet at the municipal office not meeting the requirements to live stream, council decided they would not install it for now.

She adds there was also equipment from the Town of Espanola that would be available for trial, but it had many glitches. She adds there was no motion, just an informal discussion, but council is continuing to look into different equipment and funding options to eventually, get the service in place.

A petition signed by over 130 residents was presented to council earlier this Spring asking for the service to be implemented.

Plant And Craft Sale Well Attended

The Plant and Craft Sale held at the Espanola Regional Recreation Complex was well attended. The public could purchase a variety of plants and also sign up for their annual registration to the Espanola Gardeners, known formerly as the Espanola Horticultural Society. There were also several craft people in place with original pieces of art and practical items for every member of the house. Voting of the Espanola Winter Banner Contest was also part of the weekend gathering on Saturday, May 25th.

Cambrian College Wins Two National Awards For Innovation In Education

Cambrian College won not one, but two, innovation awards at this year's annual conference of the Canadian Network for Innovation in Education, the CNIE.

Cambrian's Teaching and Learning Innovation Hub won the Award of Excellence - Instructional Design category for its submission, Simulated Home Visits and the Award of Excellence in Technology - Higher Education for its interactive video, Engaging Students in a Trades Lab with QR Code.

The awards were May 21-24 in Vancouver.

A team of faculty and college staff produced the video, including lead faculty member

Serge Levesque, professors Laura Killam and Mel Young, and Hub videographer Jeff Tranchemontagne.

This project very much mirrors the concept of "just in time learning" according to Serge Levesque.

"Students working in our labs work at their own pace. I needed a solution that would provide the students with easy access to specific information on an as needed basis. Scanning the QR code provides instant access to specific information when they require it. The results have been extremely positive and students are working more independently with less supervision and full Instructor support.

Cambrian also earned the Award of Excellence - Instructional Design category for its submission, Simulated Home Visits. Leading that project was Nursing professor Laura Killam, Sarah Wendorf, an Instructional Designer in Cambrian's Hub, and Jeff Tranchemontagne.

"For students, this project removed barriers to success on their assignment by increasing access to families, promoting consistency of the experience, and improving the guidance they received," says Laura Killam, who accepted both awards on behalf of Cambrian. "Receiving recognition for the creative problem solving demonstrated in this project is encouraging as it validates the work and time invested by the Hub team and Cambrian College.

"On behalf of Cambrian, I want congratulate our faculty members and the team in the Hub for these amazing achievements," says Cambrian College President Bill Best. "These awards continue to showcase the talent of our first-rate staff and faculty, who are national leaders when it comes to innovation in teaching."

The Canadian Network for Innovation in Education is a national organization of professionals committed to excellence in the provision of innovation in education in Canada. To learn more about CNIE or the awards, simply visit <https://cnie-rcie.ca/>.

Espanola High School grads were out on Friday, May 24th washing cars and trucks to raise funds for the graduation prom, which takes place June 14th. About $900 was raised and the Prom Committee has some great plans to make this year's prom a fantastic one and it will be the first prom in years, which will be held at Espanola High School. In recent decades, the prom has been held off-site at other locations. Photo provided by Dennis Lendrum

Welcome to Local Hippie's weekly tip for living a greener life! Each week we will provide you with a quick tip to help you reduce your carbon footprint and change the world.

This week's tip: Wash and rinse your recycling! Did you know that not cleaning your recyclables before sending them to the curb can be equivalent to not recycling them at ALL? In fact, it can even prevent your neighbours' waste from being recycled too!

But why?

In a recycling facility, food residue is considered a form of contamination because it can prevent materials from being broken down and processed properly. If contamination levels are too high, materials may have to be rejected from the recycling process and sent to the landfill.

Here are a few tips for washing your recycling:

- > Wash dirty recyclables as soon as they're empty! The removal of fresh food residue is much easier than when it has dried.
- > Gather all your dirty recyclables. When you're finished washing dishes in the sink, use the leftover soapy water for your containers and cans!
- > Low on time? Save up your dirty recyclables until you have enough to run one full dishwasher load of them!

Have questions? Feel free to forward them to jaymie@localhippie.net
Have a happy hippie week!

Inter-Library Loans Will Resume In Northern Ontario Starting In June

The Ontario government is reversing one of its budgetary decisions when it comes to a specific service offered by libraries.

The government has indicated it will resume interlibrary loan services in Northern Ontario by June 1st, but not immediately in the south.

The reversal came as a result of the outcry by library users and staffers, but with the future of such loans in the southern part of the province still in limbo, it remains unclear how much of the popular service will return.

The Ford government cut library funding by 50 percent across the board as part of its 2019 budget and that could still mean the loss of library staff across the province.

Northern Ontario library services are overseen by Ontario Library Service-North.

Recipe

This cheesy version of spinach dip is a favourite.

It takes just minutes to put together and will be the first thing eaten at your next gathering. The most important part of making this recipe is to be sure all of the water is removed from your spinach. You can squeeze the spinach between your fingers to remove the liquid, press it in a potato ricer, or wrap the spinach in a few layers of paper towels to wring out all the liquid. You can use frozen spinach in a pinch, but it has a stringier texture.

Hot Spinach Dip

- 8 ounces cream cheese softened
- 1 cup sour cream
- 10 ounces fresh spinach leaves
- 1 teaspoon minced garlic
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1/2 cup grated parmesan cheese
- 1 1/2 cups shredded mozzarella cheese divided use
- 1 tablespoon chopped parsley
- bread, crackers and vegetables for serving
- cooking spray

Steam or sauté the spinach until wilted. Let cool, and then wring out all the excess water. Coarsely chop the spinach. Preheat the oven to 375 degrees F. Coat a small baking dish or skillet with cooking spray. Place the cream cheese, sour cream, cooked spinach, garlic, salt, pepper, parmesan cheese and 3/4 cup of the mozzarella cheese in a bowl. Stir until well combined. Spread the spinach mixture into the prepared dish. Top with remaining mozzarella cheese. Bake for 20 minutes or until dip is bubbly and cheese is melted. Turn the oven to broil and cook for 2-3 more minutes or until cheese starts to brown. Sprinkle with chopped parsley then serve with bread, crackers and vegetables.
