New Signage Posted By Victim Services - Buying Sex Is A Crime

By Rosalind Russell - A new billboard sign between McKerrow and Espanola is pretty hard to miss, especially since its message hits hard: buying sex is a crime.

The sign is a joint project between Manitoulin Northshore Victims Services and the Manitoulin and Area Coalition against Human Trafficking. Natasha Falle, Anti-Human Trafficking Project Co-ordinator, says there are very vulnerable people in the communities on Manitoulin Island and the North Shore. She adds that the highway signage is deliberately located on Highway 17 because it is part of what she calls the circuit in prostitution, especially being so close to Sudbury. Falle adds women make up the bulk of the victims and collectively, people of all genders younger than 25 years old make up 72 percent of victims. And of that, 70 percent are women.

Espanola Regional Hospital Foundation Take On Major Campaign

Photo: The Espanola Regional Hospital Auxiliary has kick-started the new campaign for a retrofit of the x-ray suite at the hospital in a big way. Members presented a cheque for $30,000, funds they have raised for the last year. Photo provided by ERHHC

The equipment in the x-ray department at the Espanola Regional Hospital is near the end of its service life and the hospital foundation is taking on a major campaign to raise funds for its replacement. Foundation spokesperson, Terri Noble, says the equipment needs to be upgraded to continue providing state-of-the-art medical care for treating patients. She says the retrofit will cost just over half-a-million-dollars and the fundraising is off to a great start with the hospital auxiliary donating $30,000 to the project last Thursday. Noble says the fundraiser will be part of The Moose Annual Charity Radiothon on CJJM on December 13th. To make a donation, which can also be made in memory of someone, contact Terri Noble at the Espanola Regional Hospital Foundation office by calling: 705-869-1420 and ask the operator for the foundation office or email your inquiry directly to her at: tnoble@esphosp.on.ca If you would like to present a cheque at the radiothon on behalf of a group, organization, club, business or as an individual, Terri can also discuss that with you to make the appropriate arrangements.

The Seniors' Speaking Tour- Very Tough Crowds!

Lately I've been guest speaking to a variety of senior groups and I have to admit--these talks have not gone all that well.

Not long ago I was invited to address an elderly organization in Haliburton. With great memories of that rough and steady lakeside town, I jumped at the chance to get up there again.

Unfortunately the venue for my presentation was the Haliburton Fish Hatchery and--I'm not making this up--the name of the group was CARP! Yeah, some very weird bottom-feeding confusion going on there. Plus the president forgot to introduce me. He told a few lame jokes and then said: "Here's a guy who's funnier than I am...William Thomas."

With no introduction the audience thought I was some sort of marine biologist there to discuss the sex life of lamprey eels. I can tell you, that particular speaking engagement did not go well. And yes, introductions are important.

But I did get to tell my favorite Haliburton story which involves a very bad word. Many years ago, coming off the success of The Dog Rules, my publisher Key Porter was pushing me to come back quickly with The Cat Rules. Since this would be a compilation of essays and columns I'd written about two of my cats, Malcolm and later Weggie, I already had the material at hand. I was struggling with the first draft when I got a call from Fleming College Haliburton Campus asking me to address their summer graduation classes.

"No. Sorry...wait a minute! Do you have a cottage I could use for a week?"

It was an oppressively hot and humid day in late August when Jake, my big and beautiful Border Collie/Australian Shepard, walked into Haliburton from the cottage, badly needing cold beer. As soon as Jake saw the margarine tub go into my backpack he knew it was Miller Time.

We came up to a dinky little cafe next to Bawana John's with a patio bar. That's when I spotted 'Trouble.' It wasn't so much he was a wild-looking guy with long greasy hair and glaring at everybody walking by- he was wearing a fleece-lined, heavy sweatshirt on the hottest day of the year.

I started to walk past the gate but Jake smelled beer and so we went in. As hard as I tried to avoid eye-contact with 'Trouble' I could not help glancing at the sweatshirt as we passed his table and there it was, poetry in promotion with large letters across the top: "INTERNATIONAL SARCASM SOCIETY."

And in smaller letters underneath it read: "Yeah, like we need your f#&%ing support!" Sorry but as a humorist I could not help but laugh like hell. Also, I could not resist buying the sweatshirt next door at Bawana John's. I can never wear it of course, but I have it.

Reluctantly back to the speaking tour, I addressed the Probus Club of Ajax a few months ago and before I began my talk

Report States Hundreds Of Teachers To Be Lost Due To Larger Class Sizes

School boards across the Algoma, Manitoulin and Sudbury Districts will be losing teachers as part of the change to larger class sizes. The Rainbow District School Board will lose 65 teachers over the next four years as a result of larger class sizes, according to a report by the Canadian Centre for Policy Alternatives. The Catholic boards across the North will lose up to 66. According to the Ontario Secondary School Teacher's Federation, the Behind the Numbers Report not only allows users to view the loss of teachers predicted for individual school boards, viewers can also see some Ontario school boards will lose hundreds. Education workers across the system, such as support staff, secretaries, psychologists and others will also be impacted. For the link to the complete report, go to: <http://behindthenumbers.ca/2019/10/30/board-by-board-impact-larger-class-sizes>

I asked them if they would be kind enough to turn off all their electronic devices. Unfortunately they assumed that included their hearing aids. I assure you, that speaking engagement did not go well.

That experience was eerily reminiscent to a presentation I made to a senior's group in Kitchener a few years back, during which I talked about stories from my book Margaret And Me. An elderly gentleman confronted me at the book signing table claiming I had never touched on even one important aspect of the woman's life.

"But I'm her son," I protested "To hell you are," he countered. Once calmer heads prevailed we identified the two problems that had caused the confusion. First, the battery in the man's hearing aid was dead and secondly, he thought my introducer had said I was there to talk about Margaret Meade, the great American anthropologist and not Margaret And Me, the story of my wee Irish mother. As I said, introductions are very important and some need to be delivered by bullhorn.

But seldom does it all go wrong at once as it did in a hall in Wellandport a few years back when an agricultural organization gathered for their annual meeting with me as the so called 'entertainment.' The caterers were late and understaffed, there was no podium and the president who booked me and was supposed to introduce me was a 'no show.' That's always a bad sign right there.

Watching a guy named Mike assume the duties of my introducer was like seeing Captain Hazzelwood reach for a second bottle of Scotch as the Exxon Valdez began to list. He ended by calling me Wayne Thompson who happened to be the mayor of Niagara Falls at the time. But the worst was he referred to a recent book I'd written as Gays- Not Real Bright And Damn Proud Of It!" The correct title was a shot at "Guys". "Guys- Not Real Bright...!"

I spent the first ten minutes of my talk apologizing to any gays in the room who might have been offended by that miscue and assuring everybody that as far as I was concerned, gays were every bit as bright and smart as the rest of us.

In hindsight I think they were actually smarter than the rest of us because back then they weren't getting married. Needless to say that presentation did not go well and yes, a well-delivered introduction is very, very, very important.

New signage for Espanola

The Town of Espanola has erected new signage at the north entrance to town, which has drawn some controversy. The new sign is slightly larger than its predecessor, features three languages and was produced by Laird Signs of Iron Bridge. However, some of the public on social media was wondering why the sign was not produced locally. Town CAO Cynthia Townsend told The Moose the two local companies could not provide the type of sign they were looking for whereas Laird Signs have the experience, design and construction skills they needed. She adds both the town and local architect, Jennifer Harvey, have experience with the company and were satisfied they could meet job requirements and the timelines required. Townsend adds the project was not put out to tender, but adds the town's procurement policy does allow for that for certain special services.

Recipe

This soup is hearty and delicious and a perfect comfort meal as the weather turns colder. I made it the other day for supper; preparing it in the morning before I went to work. A quick mash of the potatoes when you get home, add the last three ingredients and within 20 minutes, you have a tasty, filling meal. It's a thick soup. I added a bit more milk to thin it to the consistency I like. I served it with toasted buns.

Slow Cooker Potato and Ham Soup

- 8 cups russet potatoes , diced
- 1 yellow onion , diced
- 2 large carrots , peeled and chopped
- 1/2 cup chopped celery
- 16 ounces cubed ham (I used a ham steak)
- 1 teaspoon Kosher salt
- 1/4 teaspoon fresh cracked black pepper
- 4 cups chicken broth (1 box of chicken broth)
- 1/4 cup flour
- 1 1/2 cups of cream (you can also use milk, or I used a combination)
- 1/2 cup sour cream

Add the potatoes, onion, carrot, celery, ham, Kosher salt, pepper and chicken broth to your slow cooker and cook on low 7-8 hrs or high 4-5 hrs. Using a potato masher, mash about 1/3 of the potatoes. (Don't worry, the ham won't really mash that much). Mix the flour, cream/milk and sour cream in a bowl, and then add to the soup. Cover and cook on high for an additional 15 minutes. If you find it too thick, add additional milk until it's the desirable consistency. Taste and season.

Welcome to Local Hippie's weekly tip for living a greener life! Each week we will provide you with a quick tip to help you reduce your carbon footprint and change the world.

This week's tip: choose an environmentally-friendly Christmas tree option!

Christmas trees can be quite the conundrum for an environmentalist! Artificial trees are made of non-recyclable materials and contribute to a large amount of municipal plastic waste each year. Alternatively, cutting down a living tree can also be a huge waste of resources and animal habitats.

Here are some better options:

- > If going with a living tree, choose a local tree farm with sustainable practices
- > If buying artificial, choose a high quality tree that will last 10+ years
- > Get a second hand tree from a thrift store or Christmas swap
- > Decorate an already existing tree on your property
- > Go for non-traditional! Decorate a houseplant
- > Make an alternative tree out of recycled materials at home
- > (My favourite option) Buy a living tree from your local nursery and plant it in your yard or community in the spring

Cheers to an earth-friendly holiday season!
