Signage, Increased Reward,
Prayer Walk In Sagamok
Anishnawbek First Nation

By Rosalind Russell - Support is growing for a grieving Sagamok-Anishnawbek First Nation mother who recently lost her daughter. Charlene Ann Owl's daughter, Charisse, died in November from an overdose.

A mother of four children, she was only 28. Charlene announced a $2,000 reward earlier this month for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the individual that sold the heroin, which led to her death. She says the reward is now $3,000. She is also meeting with Chief and Band Council on April 6th to discuss the seriousness of the opioid epidemic in the community.

Supporters are also assisting her in organizing a Prayer Walk on April 17th. Charlene says the walk will start at 10:00 a.m. in front of the residence where her daughter died and wind its way to the Catholic Church and then the ballpark where the memorial billboard will be unveiled. She adds several supporters are also posting the signs in their yards and businesses in support of her initiative to fight the epidemic that took her daughter from her.

Undergoing The Knife — The Musical

I'm scheduled for an invasive medical procedure next week and although it's a tad too personal to elaborate on, I just hope the doctor uses something smaller than a 35mm. camera! Also, a flashbulb would be an excellent idea because according to the long-term forecast, the sun will not be shining... there... that day. So seriously concerned am I about this operation that I actually slowed down the other day as I passed the Catholic church down the street but at the exact moment I considered going in, a lightning bolt hit the electric grid across the street and the power in the neighbourhood was knocked out for two hours.

Remembering a comedy bit that Denis Leary used to do on medical machoism, I tried to pump myself by asking: "What would 'The Duke' do?"

Leary smoked four cigarettes at a time while delivering this hilarious stand-up routine that ended with: "...and when the doctors told John Wayne he had cancer and that they were going to have to remove his left lung: 'The Duke' said, 'Take'em freakin' both out! I don't need'em!'"

For me, bluster doesn't work. So I moved on to a more innovative plan after listening to a show called "On Your Health" on America's National Public Radio. Apparently even under an anesthetic a patient subconsciously hears atmospheric sounds in the OR like music. Under a milder anesthetic, a patient can actually hear conversations. In a fairly significant medical breakthrough the show's host Zorba Paster revealed that playing music in the operating room can actually reduce a patient's stress and pain during surgery. Well, as somebody who's considered being sedated, hypnotized and mildly lobotomized just to get a vaccine 'jab' — I'm all in with this one!

In the beginning, I was so confident all would go well I gave a musical thumb's up to my surgeon by playing Smooth Operator by Sade.

You gotta have realistic goals so I thought I'd lead in with Stayin' Alive by the Bee Gees. Then I quickly dropped that idea, thinking that when Barry Gibb hits a "9" on the falsetto range, a scalpel will likely hit the ceiling.

Now my doctor for this upcoming procedure, Dr. Abdel-Malik, is very open-minded and I'm sure when I show up with my 'surgery playlist' tape, he'll play along with the music like... Like A Surgeon by Weird Al Yankovic.

I may have made a bad first impression with the doctor because as he was explaining the procedure I found myself singing Do You Really Want To Hurt Me by Culture Club.

Just in case we didn't cover this in the pre-op consultation, might I remind everybody involved, first and foremost, I Wanna Be Sedated by The Ramones. A bit of a hint to the nurse assisting in the operation, I Want To Hold Your Hand by the Beatles would be entirely welcome. Let's not forget their other hit Don't Let Me Down. And let's definitely forget Paul McCartney ever recorded Live And Let Die. Okay?

And speaking of nurses, if I hear even one of them singing Oops, I Did It Again by Britney Spears I'm outta there, sedation be damned.

A friend told me how disgusting that white laxative liquid you have to drink before the operation, so I made a special request for A Spoonful Of Sugar by Julie Andrews to help the medicine go down, the medicine go down.

I'd like to stay away from The First Cut Is The Deepest by Cat Stevens because I definitely do not want to tell my doctor how to conduct his business. Maybe the second or third cut will be the deepest or no cuts at all if a plane hits the hospital an hour before I get there and I get a six-month reprieve which is what I am counting on.

I always liked Mack The Knife by Bobby Darin but if somehow Dr. Malik ends up with the nickname "Mack", he's not going to be happy.

I know doctors must adhere to a busy schedule so before mine rushes off to his next appointment I'll make sure he hears Wake Me Up Before You Go-Go by Wham.

Out the back end, sorry... I think the worst that could happen is that when the surgery is over, the tape ends, the music stops and I hear Dr. Abdel-Malik singing I Still Haven't Found What I Am Looking For by U2.

And the last song you want to hear near the end of a medical ordeal is Knocking On Heaven's Door by Guns N' Roses.

A word to the orderly who's pushing me along the hospital hallway in a gurney after the operation... if I hear you singing Another One Bites The Dust by Queen, I swear,

I will... okay, then my estate will have a serious word with you outside in the parking lot. Man, it was, only a couple of weeks ago that I was waxing squeamish about getting a needle! Several readers, prophetically and as it turns out, ironically, brushed off my fear by saying I was just being 'a pain in the ass.' Perhaps I've said too much.

Act Foundation Enhancing High School CPR Training With Opioid Awareness And Overdose Response Training

The Advanced Coronary Treatment Foundation says it is enhancing the ACT High School CPR and AED Program with an Opioids Overdose Response Training Module.

National Medical Director and Chair Dr. Justin Maloney says support from Health Canada's Substance Use and Addictions Program will enable the foundation to expand its Ottawa pilot of the opioids awareness and response training to hundreds of high schools across Canada.

He says enhancing their program with opioids awareness and response training is a natural next step in equipping youth to respond to life threatening emergencies they may encounter.

High school teachers will be trained to teach students to recognize the signs of an opioids overdose, the importance of calling 911 quickly, and how to respond with the use of Naloxone nasal spray and perform CPR when necessary.

Huron Shores Close To Inking Deal For Wireless Internet

Municipality of Huron Shores Mayor Georges Bilodeau has been pushing for wireless Internet for the last two years as part of a community-based broadband project, which includes 31 municipalities and 12 First Nations along the North Shore corridor.

As Chair of the Huron & Manitoulin Island Community Owned Fibre Infrastructure Corporation, he is looking for supports for over 31,000 homes, businesses and institutions in the region.

He says that comes at a cost of $150 million but half of that could come from both the province and federal governments with municipalities covering the rest.

Biladeau adds the company is in the process of completing the application for the Universal Broadband Fund Program through the federal government.

While they wait for that decision, letters of support are being sought from educational institutions, business owners and individuals.

The decisions for federal and provincial funding are expected next month.

Recipe

Thank you to my friend for sharing a family favourite recipe. An easy but delicious, creamy, low carb dinner casserole using basic ingredients. Prep only takes 30 minutes, so it's perfect for a weekday meal. Can also be served with naan bread or buns.

Philly Cheesesteak Casserole (Low Carb)

- 2 lb Ground beef
- 2 tsp salt
- 1/2 tsp Black pepper
- 3 large Bell peppers (sliced into thin strips; red, yellow, and green)
- 1 large Onion (cut in half, sliced into thin slices)
- 1/2 tbsp Italian seasoning
- 1 tsp Smoked paprika
- 1/2 tsp Garlic powder
- 4 oz Cream cheese
- 1/4 cup Chicken or beef broth
- 6 slices Provolone cheese (~4 oz)

Preheat the oven to 350 degrees F (177 degrees C). Place the beef into a large sauté pan over medium-high heat and break up with a spatula. Season with sea salt and black pepper. Cook for 8-10 minutes, stirring occasionally, until browned and cooked through. Add the bell peppers and onions to the pan. Season with Italian seasoning, smoked paprika, and garlic powder. Sauté for 10-15 minutes, until vegetables are soft. Add the cream cheese and broth. Stir together until smooth and melted. Transfer the mixture to a large stoneware baking dish (8 x 11 1/2 inches). Arrange provolone slices on top, overlapping slightly. Bake for 10-15 minutes, until cheese is melted.

OBITUARY

Vimini – Ovidio of Espanola suddenly and unexpectedly passed away at the Espanola Regional Hospital on March 25, 2021 at the age of 92. Dear son of the late Fulvio & Prassede (nee Cinotti) Vimini. Beloved husband of Marion (nee Vincent). Loving father of Carlo Vimini (Mary) of Milton and Marina David (Larry) of Constance Bay. Cherished Grandpa to grandchildren Lance, Lucas (predeceased), Carly, Johnny and Nonno to great grandchildren Logan and Layla. Dear brother of Sandro Vimini (Liliana) both predeceased of Italy, Romano

Vimini (Elba) of Espanola and Marcello Vimini of Espanola. A love for his favorite activities including golf, fishing, hunting, fine berry wine making and woodworking kept him in youthful spirits. He was a man of strict routines and started each day early with warm up stretches then breakfast and finally to the basement for his cardio workout of 100 laps around the pool table while pumping hand weights. He was now primed for the rest of the day's activities. He enjoyed "coaching" both the Blue Jays and Bruins from his armchair. It seems they rarely listened to him. The family are truly thankful he was able to enjoy 30+ years of healthy retirement doing things his way. Cremation has taken place. Visitation was at the Bourcier Funeral Home on Wednesday March 31, 2021 from 1 PM until the time of private family service that was held at 4 PM in the funeral home. Interment in the Espanola Cemetery at a later date in the spring. If so desired, donations to the Royal Canadian Legion BR#39 and/or the Espanola Hospital Foundation would be appreciated. Arrangements by BOURCIER FUNERAL HOME Ltd, Espanola
