Vaccine Arrives For Long-Term Care Facilities In Public Health Sudbury & Districts Jurisdiction

By Rosalind Russell - Last week marked the start of the much-anticipated vaccination program for residents of long-term care and high-risk retirement homes within the jurisdiction of Public Health Sudbury & Districts.

Medical officer of health, Dr. Penny Sutcliffe, says the agency is received enough quantities of the Moderna COVID-19 vaccine over the next two weeks to immunize all residents of the facilities in the Sudbury and Manitoulin districts by February 5th.

She adds area long-term care homes will be sequenced over the time based on vaccine availability, COVID-19 case rates and outbreaks, and other factors such as logistics to avoid vaccine wastage.

Dr. Sutcliffe says this news follows on Insurrection. Impeachment. Inauguration. High Drama In America With A Few Comic Moments In Between.

WOW! From January 6 to January 20, from an ugly government coup to a swift trial of treason followed by a graceful commencement ceremony — Americans may be at war with each other but they're still the best bloody multi-taskers in the world! It was like the political version of the Gordie Howe hat trick — a goal, an assist and a fight — all in one game!

As that rabid mob laid (bodily) waste to the halls of America's temple of government in Washington and smashed their way into the empty Senate chamber, there was that moment of surprise at their own success. Staring at the grandeur of an empty Senate chamber, the first ones in were stunned into a surreal silence. Until one of the Capitol crashers said: "Well, now that we're here, we might as well put together a government." It was a deadpan line delivered like a late night comic.

Like: "Okay, who wants to be president? Come on, how hard can that be? Okay, first we'll kill Pelosi and hang Pence and then we'll talk about who gets to ride shotgun on Air Force One."

Addressing his army of brain-washed supporters about the 'stolen election' and referring to the Democrats, President Trump said: "They're not taking the White House. We're going to fight like hell."

And there it was — no dog whistle or gaslighting or perfect phone call — a dozen words that became the war cry that saw him impeached almost immediately. Then instead of joining his mob of marchers as he had promised, he went back to his office and watched the carnage on TV. (I really hoped that at the height of the violence, Pence would send Ted Cruz out onto the Capitol steps to try and calm things down.)

Benedict Arnold, the most famous traitor in American history did in fact fight along-side the enemy of invading British troops while Judas Iscariot at least pocketed thirty silver coins for selling out Christ. But Trump... he watched his horrible handiwork unfold on the big screen while enjoying a burger with extra fries.

Switching gears faster than a trucker in an ice storm, America went from national mayhem to constitutional justice to... this gorgeous and solemn scene of the 400 lights illuminating the reflecting pool at the Lincoln Memorial commemorating the 400,000 Americans who have died so far from the coronavirus pandemic.

I can only imagine Trump watched that on TV too and yelled "Corona panda what?! I bet Rudy knew all about this and the bastard didn't tell me!"

Some rioters displayed badges and name tags, a gold-medal swimmer wore his Olympic jacket and many of them took selfies of themselves then posted them online to which I say: "If you're going to be a vicious mob, then damn it, act like one!" Seriously, can you imagine if these people were smart or even halfway organized? No, do not imagine that. Think of this as a peaceful respite, the calm before the next storm known as the 'midterm elections' of 2022.

A funny line that speaks volumes of historical truth: "Due to COVID-19 travel restrictions, America had to stage a coup at home this year." As much as Canadians sympathize with those Americans who voted for sanity and are now fighting to hold on to their democracy, it's important to remember that previous administrations used the CIA to orchestrate more than 80 'regime changes' all over the world that looked... just like the one we watched on TV.

I really think Jen Psaki, this breath-of-fresh-air White House Press Secretary, missed a golden opportunity to foretell the humour and humility of the Biden administration while distancing herself from the 'Liars List' of Spicer, Sanders and McEnany. (I noticed metal detectors have now been installed at the Capitol. Late, but not as late as lie detectors installed in the White House briefing room!)

Exactly four years removed from Trump's crowd size exaggeration and with clips of the empty and barbed-wire confines of Washington behind her, Psaki should have ended her first press conference with: "This was the smallest audience to ever witness an inauguration, period! Both in person and around the globe! Double period!"

Of course a few days after the calm and peaceful transition of power at the White House, two Republicans, Andy Harris of Maryland and Lauren Boebert from... you can't make this stuff up... Rifle, Colorado tried to slip past the new metal detectors on the grounds of the Capitol and were caught carrying handguns. It's too soon to know if far-right Republicans plan to eliminate the middleman, that is, the mob, but if they start quoting John Wayne instead of Abraham Lincoln the Democrats will have to resort to wearing bulletproof vests.

In Lansing, the locked-down, boarded-up capital of Michigan, two protesters from opposite political poles starred each other down. One, a member of a Michigan militia, wore a camouflage uniform with an assault rifle slung over his shoulder. Opposite him stood a little guy wearing a T-shirt that read "Let's settle this like adults"... over images of paper, rock and scissors. The meek might yet inherit the earth but there will be casualties along the way.

There is no shortage of beautifully-crafted words of healing that serve to temporarily paper over the ugliness within every American domestic eruption. From the poem of 22-year-old poetic phenom Amanda Gorman: "The new dawn blooms as we free it. For there is always light. If only we're brave enough to see it. If only we're brave enough to be it." To the brilliant black playwright Langston Hughes who loved a country that did not love him back: "O, let America be America again. The land that never has been yet. And yet must be — the land where everyman is free." America — a bubbling lab experiment in democracy, a messy nation-building work in progress.

Needle Disposal Program Implemented In SSRT

As an option in coping with the opioid crisis, the Township of Sables-Spanish Rivers has placed a needle disposal box in a highly visible location.

Township CAO Kim Sloss says Public Health Sudbury & Districts provided the municipality with a sharps kiosk for public use.

Councillor Kevin Burke says the box must be located on public property, so it has been placed in front of the Webbwood Public Library.

He adds they appreciate the health agency purchasing the one box and if the program proves successful, township council will consider buying another one for Massey.

He says the township is also responsible for paying for the safe disposal of the contents.

In a public statement on Facebook, Deputy Mayor Glenda Massicotte shared her thoughts about the program;

This is a wonderful and necessary receptacle. It is in an easily accessible place for people to dispose of all kinds of needles and sharps including insulin needles, lancets for blood glucose checking and more. It is also great as there were many complaints of needles laying around and no where to dispose of them. This receptacle is emptied by a certified company that has been acquired by working with the Township and Public Health Sudbury and Districts. I feel that this a proactive step to keep our communities safe. I wish we had one in each community in our township. Council chose Webbwood as the first to receive this valuable and safe receptacle. I'm happy this is here. The stigma of needle use is not why this has been placed there.

Vaccine Arrives For Long-Term Care Facilities In Public Health Sudbury & Districts Jurisdiction

the successful vaccination of residents, staff, and essential care givers of the Wikwemikong Nursing Home on January 13.

Public Health is working closely with community partners to complete vaccinations by February 5 or earlier. The vaccine will be offered to everyone eligible to receive it on a voluntary basis. The vaccine is a safe and effective tool in stopping the spread of COVID-19 and protecting the health of everyone, including our most vulnerable, in the community.

The critical need for COVID-19 vaccine to protect our most vulnerable has been further highlighted with several recent outbreaks declared locally, emphasizes Dr. Sutcliffe.

Most recently, Public Health Sudbury & Districts has declared COVID-19 outbreaks at Pius XII Catholic School, following three associated cases, and at Summit Human Services (group home), a congregate living setting, following the report of one case of COVID-19 in a staff member (as of press time).

"Our worry with the Pfizer-BioNTech vaccine supply reductions was that we would have to wait longer and so we are thrilled that supplies of the Moderna vaccine are being made available to protect vulnerable people across the province," notes Dr. Sutcliffe. "I would like to thank long-term care homes and community paramedicine for their support in partnering in this truly unprecedented vaccination plan.

The vaccine outlook at the provincial level.

The person in charge of Ontario's vaccine rollout program says we shouldn't despair about the shortage of COVID-19 vaccines.

Retired general, Rick Hillier, says he's confident the province will still reach its goal of inoculating all Ontarians by this fall.

The provincial government has altered its vaccination schedule, in light of the delay in shipments from Pfizer as it expands its plant in Belgium.

Efforts to cover long-term care staff and caregivers is being paused, so the remaining vaccines can be administered to residents of nursing homes and long-term care facilities.

Premier Doug Ford says it's critical that Ontario's most vulnerable seniors be at the head of the line.

Health Minister Christine Elliott says people must continue to stay at home and follow public health guidelines, until there's a sufficient supply to cover every Ontarian who wants to receive the inoculation.
