Orange Ribbons Removed From Spanish River Bridge

Photo: Nairn #1 Girl Guide Troop leader Leah Campbell says the girls tied the ribbons to show support for the day of truth and reconciliation and to also recognize the lost children from residential schools. Photo provided by Leah Campbell and used with permission.

By Rosalind Russell - There have been some inquiries as to why orange plastic ribbons have been removed from the Spanish River Bridge in Espanola. Nairn #1 Girl Guide Troop leader Leah Campbell says the girls tied the ribbons to show support for the day of truth and reconciliation and to also recognize the lost children from residential schools. She adds, made from light plastic, there were some concerns raised that the ribbons would eventually break down

Ward System Suggested For Sables-Spanish Rivers Township

Photo: A resident is hoping Sables-Spanish Rivers Township will consider going through the process of changing to a ward system. Photo by Rosalind Russell

A resident is hoping Sables-Spanish Rivers Township will consider going through the process of changing to a ward system.

Brian Channon says municipalities are just over a year away from another election and he wants to ensure the township, which includes Massey and Webbwood as well as several rural residents, have equal representation.

He says council did try to solve the problem by filling a vacancy with someone from Webbwood, but that move led to loss of representation for some 600 residents of Massey. Channon says the problem can be easily solved if council puts a motion on the floor to change to a ward system with fair representation based on population.

He says if council will not consider the idea, he is prepared to submit a petition to them for consideration.

What Prime Minister Justin Trudeau Needs Is A 'Brain Guard' Named Bill

"Justin my lad, my name's Bill and I'm here to help."

"You're going to help me win a fourth term?"

"No, I said my name was Bill not God Almighty."

"I don't get it."

"Sadly, son, there's a Sahara Desert full of stuff you apparently don't get but let's take this one misstep at a time."

"So how are you going to help?"

"My official title will be your Deputy of Discretion but think of me as your 'brain guard.' I believe you're suffering from DDD, Disastrous Decision Disorder. So every time your brain drifts off to the 'Land Of If Only'... BAM! — I'll bring you back to reality."

"But I did win the election."

"Against Curly, Larry and Annamie Paul. Canadians needed that election like COVID needs another variant."

"Well, not all of my decisions have been bad because..."

"Justin, from that Christmas holiday with the Aga Khan to the picnic on the beach in Tofino during Canada's first National Truth and Reconciliation Day — you've suffered more regrettable brain farts than the 12 publishers who rejected J.K. Rowling's 'Harry Potter' manuscript."

"That's rather harsh. Overall I think I've made some very good choices and..."

"Justin, the Ethics Commissioner has you on speed dial."

"Well, you can't say every decision I've made..."

"Justin, you named a spaced-out, anxiety-ridden, control-freak ex-astronaut as the Governor General of Canada. Kawhi Leonard would have been a better choice."

"I just don't see this 'brain guard' thing working."

"Well, just tell me what you're thinking. What's going on up there?"

"Well, I'm thinking of going out on Halloween dressed up as Aladdin or maybe Ali Baba... (WHACK! TO THE BACK OF THE HEAD!) Hey! That hurt! Why'd you do that?"

"That's my job, I'm your Deputy of Discretion, remember?"

"And for Christmas..." (WHACK!) "What the hell!?"

"Don't even think about jetting off to a rich friend's private island in the Caribbean while ordinary Canadians freeze their asses off."

"What do you mean by 'ordinary Canadians'?"

"You know when you were attending all those expensive private schools and hanging out exclusively with other privileged boys and girls whose parents worked tirelessly to get their massive inherited wealth mentioned in Forbes Magazine — well, the janitors and teachers and your drivers — they were ordinary Canadians."

"Okay. Yeah, the help."

"Let's say you organized a caucus retreat and you needed a guest speaker. Who comes to mind?"

"Well, my mother and my brother have considerable experience."

(WHACK!) "Say the word 'nepotism' three times out loud."

"I didn't know anything about that WE scandal."

"You probably didn't. And maybe you didn't know that Jaspal Atwal, the guy you and Sophie welcomed to that 'Mr. Dress Up' Bollywood reception in Mumbai was a murderer. Or that Wei Wei, the guy who contributed $1 million to your foundation was also the Toronto real estate mogul who turned his private 16-bathroom mansion into a lucrative and illegal casino. But can you see how all this looks to the voters and how most Canadians see you as a bit of tone-deaf dolt?"

"Well, I'm against gambling if that's what you mean."

"Not what I meant but it's a good thing you're not a betting man because the odds on you winning another election are the same as the Leafs winning the Stanley Cup... with Jody Wilson-Raybould in goal."

"So you're just another one of those gravel-throwing haters?"

"Not at all. As a person I quite like you. I was a fan of your father, I knew your mother, Margaret and I spent time with your brother 'Sasha'. I voted for you. I think you handled the pandemic quite well and you didn't knuckle under to China's bullying. I believe you're the last best chance Indigenous Peoples have to right the catastrophic wrongs of Canada's past. Although I do think an environmentalist who buys a pipeline is a lot like a boxer who is also a bleeder, you've done a decent job"

"So?"

"It's the steady stream of gaffes that angers me. After the Tofino debacle I thought either your advisers have a sick sense of humour or you're subscribing to a website called 'Bonehead Decisions Made Easy'."

"Hmmm."

"And for Christmas, instead of jetting south you might think about staying home and on a wintery Ottawa night, take a walk in the snow. You know, like your father did."

Recipe

These soft and chewy maple snickerdoodles are so easy to make and are perfect for fall. The pure maple syrup flavour adds a sweet twist on the classic snickerdoodle recipe. If you'd like even more maple flavour, you can replace some or all the vanilla extract with maple extract. Be sure to chill the dough to prevent cookies from spreading.

Maple Snickerdoodles

- 3/4 cup butter, softened
- 3/4 cup granulated sugar
- 1/4 cup brown sugar
- 1/4 cup pure maple syrup
- 2 tsp vanilla extract
- 1 egg
- 2 tsp baking soda
- 2 1/4 cups all-purpose flour
- 1 1/2 tsp ground cinnamon
- 1 tsp cream of tartar
- 1/2 tsp salt

Cinnamon Sugar Coating

- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1 Tbsp ground cinnamon

Cream butter, granulated sugar, and brown sugar together, until light and fluffy.

Add in maple syrup, vanilla extract, and egg; beat until well combined. Sift dry ingredients together in a separate bowl, and slowly incorporate into the wet ingredients.

Chill dough for at least 1 hour. Preheat oven to 375 degrees and line a baking sheet with parchment paper. Mix cinnamon and sugar together in a small bowl. Roll dough into about 1 1/2" balls, and the roll in cinnamon sugar. Place 2" apart on the baking sheet, and bake for 8-10 minutes, or until tops have cracked and the cookies are set.

OBITUARIES

Fournier - Marc David. The family regretfully announces the passing of Marc on October 3, 2021 at the age of 60 after a four year battle with Multiple Myeloma. Marc was an avid reader known at the local libraries and was happiest among his books, magazines and newspapers. Marc lived his life in a unique way on his own terms and always with a big heart. Pre deceased by his parents Frank & Beau Fournier and sadly missed by his brothers Rick (Jane) and Alex (Patsy). Also, will be sadly missed by many nieces, nephews, cousins & friends. Thanks to NP Genevieve Courant, Dr. Herst and the dedicated oncology dept. of HSN and also the emergency room staff of Espanola Regional Hospital, special thanks to Walter, he knows what for. With heavy hearts and great sadness, Donald 'Don' Gerald Beauchamp, 67 of Abbotsford BC passed away on October 6th, 2021. Don was born January 1st, 1954 to predeceased Laura and Wallace Beauchamp. Don married the love of his life Susan 'Sue' (Simbirski) Beauchamp November 18th, 1972. In the 49 years together, they became parents to their 2 amazing children Laurie-Anne of Abbotsford, BC and Don (Sherri; children Ethan and Aiden) of Canoe, BC. Don and Sue were partners in everything and not afraid to jump at a challenge, go on adventures or take a risk, they travelled with Laurie and Don across Canada from Ontario to the Northwest Territories, and have called British Columbia home since 1989. Don was son, husband, dad, brother, brother-in-law, uncle and friend to many but most importantly the title he cherished was 'Papa' to Ethan (10) and Aiden (7) his pride and joy. He was saddened to learn he would miss seeing them grow into men and take over the world. Another title Don took very seriously was 'uncle' as he has many nieces and nephews; he loved them all. Don built an everlasting bond with Michaela Simbirski; with whom he spent many summers with and shared his love of mechanics and carpentry; he loved Michaela like his second daughter. Don's life was filled with family; he was predeceased by his siblings Bill, Muriel, Shirley, and Richard. Don is survived by Bernice Bourguignon (Armand), James Beauchamp (Bonnie) and Christine Heaton (George). When Don decided you were in his circle, it was for life; he loved Susan's family like they were his blood. Don will be deeply missed by Christine Simbirski, with whom he became a big brother, friend and confidant. Don always had a love of pets; and his most beloved furbabies, Cmari who he is with now, Abby and Buddy will miss him dearly. Don was strong, kind, dedicated, stubborn and when he loved you; you knew. Don was a mechanic by trade, an amazing artist and enjoyed mixed martial arts. Don's memory will be cherished and missed as he touched so many lives.
