

Holiday Greetings from Mother May I

Reading through the content for the Christmas Issue this year, I found myself thinking how wonderful it is that the world is so diverse and how there are so many more and different ways to celebrate the holiday that we call Christmas. I do think there is one common denominator and that is; celebrations are centered around beliefs and spent with the people you love, whether it be family, friends or both. Traditions are important to people. They bring a sense of unity, comfort and peace. Coming from a very "Canadian" family, I have found it interesting to learn about certain foods and traditions that others from different countries have as part of their celebration. I once had a Yule log in my Christmas décor but never really knew the history behind it. It is long gone, but now knowing the meaning of it, I think I will make one and add it to my decorations. I love the idea of burning it while you sit quietly to reflect and make a wish for the new year. It's never too late to add a new tradition or food that your friends and family will look forward to year after year; maybe add one that comes from your heritage.

I want to wish all our readers a very Merry Christmas, enjoying the holiday the way you like to celebrate it, and much happiness in the New Year!

Ican't believe it has been 25 years since our Little Paper That Makes a Big Difference launched -December 4,1996. The little ones that were born that year have all grown up with our paper coming in their mailbox every Tuesday. Some of them are now starting families of their own and yes that statement makes me feel nostalgic. The realization that they don't know the community without the Around&About warms my heart.

As I think back to all the challenges we faced, Y2K pandemonium, the 911 attacks, the many businesses that came and went, the 2012 fire that took everything but our will to keep going, Facebook, buying the office supply store and learning a brand new business, and now two years of a world pandemic. PHEWWWW!!!!

We survived and I wouldn't change any of it— My mom always said, "what doesn't kill you makes you stronger" and I can now truly say, Mom you sure were right about that.

In 1996 I was a naïve, fearless, single young woman with determination and drive, featuring permed, brown auburn hair who had absolutely no idea what she was getting herself into. Now a quarter of a century later I am happily married to the love of my life, my hair is ashy-grey, sporting bifocals, with a lot of experience in all the things you should never do when starting a business. As I think back I am grateful that I didn't get it—because if I did I would never have done it and that would have been a shame.

If I could tell young me anything it would be - It takes a lot of guts to put yourself out there and take a chance on something that could fail—the statistics are not in your favour. You were extremely brave taking on such a huge endeavour and it's a good thing you were fearless.

I clearly remember people would say—"Ya that's not going to do well, it's not avery good idea, or this will never last..."

Well 25 years later my hair is white, I no longer have 20/20 vision and this little paper is still coming to your mailbox every week and that makes me smile:) I am very fortunate and grateful to have had many coworkers who helped make Around&About successful along the way, and currently, because without their dedication, the last 25 years would not have been possible. With the newspaper industry fading I can only feel grateful that your support has been a huge factor in our success and for this I thank you.

With all of that being said, on behalf of my family and work family, we want to wish you the very merriest Christmas and hope you get to celebrate with the people that mean the most to you near and far. Miigwech, Merci, Thankyou!!!

The Seven Grandfather Teachings

Wisdom Nibwaakaawin – Wisdom is to know the difference between bad and good and the results of your actions. Wisdom is to gain through life experiences. It's about learning from our mistakes. It comes from listening to our elders and children with an open mind and knowing we can all learn from them. Real wisdom is helping people to learn from their mistakes and misfortunes.

Love Zaagidiwin – Love is knowing that when people are weak they need your love the most. Love is given freely and you cannot put conditions on it or it is not true love. Love means being true and at peace with yourself. It is loving your spouse, family and friends without conditions. Love means to love all creation for it is a gift.

Respect Minaadendamowin – Respect others and their beliefs, if you cannot show respect then you cannot expect respect to be given. It's about accepting everyone as they are and not being judgemental. It's about listening, opening to others' opinions and being sensitive to their feelings about listening. This may be about education, sports, leadership, race and religion.

Bravery Aakedhewin - Bravery is to do something right even though it might hurtyou. One of life's challenges is having the courage to do something if it is difficult such as taking responsibility for our mistakes. Bravery is fighting your greatest enemy which is yourself, which may come in the form of denial, shame, addiction, hatred, guilt, prejudice, jealousy, mistrust and lack of self confidence.

Honesty Gwekwaadiziwin – Honesty to recognize who and what you are, if you can do this you can be honest with all others. Being honest is being upfront in everything you say and do without a hidden agenda or ulterior motive, being honest with yourself is to live in the spirit of how you were created. Never lie or gossip. The more honest you are, the more confident and bigger person you become.

Humility Dibaadenddiziwin – Humble yourself to know that no matter how much you know, you know very little about the whole universe. Real honesty is not bragging of one's importance. Teaching and showing people this lesson is the greatest gift we can pass on to others.

Truth Debewin - Truth is to know all seven grandfather teachings and live by them. Truth is to believe and have faith in the Teachings of the Seven Grandfathers, to walk, speak, live in truth.

Morning Smudge Ceremony

Every morning 2 Shkaabewis which means helper(s) (a male and female) conduct the ceremony. The male starts by putting sage in the smudge bowl. He lights the smudge and cleanses(smudges)himself. Next, he cleanses the bundle and the eagle staff, then continues around the circle allowing everyone to cleanse themselves. He puts down the smudge bowl band offers tobacco from a leather pouch to everyone. They take out a bit and hold it in their right hand". Each person offers a prayer of thanks or request to Gichi Manidoo. He then brings around a bowl and each person places their offer of tobacco into the bowl to have their prayer sent by putting the tobacco in the sacred fire or scattered on the ground later by the Skaabwewis.

The female Shkaabewis will pick up a copper vessel of water and pray to the 4 direction giving thanks for this beautiful gift. She goes around the circle and distributes the water into their individual vessels (usually copper). Everyone gives thanks and drinks.

The Prayer to The Great Spirit is recited to conclude the ceremony.

Prayer To The Great Spirit

Oh, Great Spirit whose voice I hear in the winds and whose breath gives life to all the world, hear me. I am small and weak. I need your strength and wisdom. I need strength not to be greater than my brother, but to fight my greatest enemy – myself. Let me walk in the beauty and make my eyes ever behold your beautiful sunsets. Make my hands respect the things you have created and my ears sharp to hear your voice in all nature, and learn the lessons in every leaf and under every rock. Make me wise so I may understand the things you have taught to the people. Make me always ready to come to you with clean hands and straight eves. So, when life fades, as the fading sunset, my spirit may come to vou without shame

SELAMAT HARI KRISMAS-Wishing you a happy Christmas in Malay.

Christmas time is more a secular holiday in Malavsia and is seen as a fun time filled with decorations, parties, presents and a gathering time for friends and family. Decorations are everywhere in shopping malls with beautiful displays with lots of lights, giant Christmas trees sometimes multiple stories high, and fake snow

Malaysia, so you won't find any real snow! Many large malls even have indoor ice rinks and Christmas carolers.

In Malaysia instead of giving out gifts, many will give "Ang Paus" money in red packets as gifts. There are usually sales in most stores after the holiday season. This way the receiver of the gift can buy themselves whatever they would like. That sure beats a pair of socks!

Every year around Christmas time in the city centers, people gather and spray foam at each other and cars.

Christmas Eve is the bigger holiday here, and after their dinner and gift giving, people will gather for a huge midnight fireworks display.

An Old Mexican Story about Christmas and the poinsettia:

There was once a poor little Mexican girl named Pepita who had no present to give to baby Jesus at the Christmas Eve Services. Pepita sadly walked to the chapel while her cousin Pedro tried to cheer her up.

'Pepita', he said 'I'm sure that even the smallest gift, given by someone who loves him will make Jesus Happy." Pepita thought about what she could give, so she picked a small handful of weeds from the roadside and made them into a small bouquet. She felt ashamed because she could only present this small gift to Jesus. Remembering what Pedro said as she walked to the alter, she began to feel better. Pepita knelt and carefully placed the bouquet at the foot of the nativity scene. Suddenly, the bouquet of weeds burst into beautiful, bright red flowers. Everyone who witnessed this was sure that they had seen a miracle. From that day forward, the bright red flowers were known as the 'Flores de Noche Buena', or 'Flowers of the Holy Night'.

Pastorelas

Across Mexico members of the Church put on Pastorelas (Shepherd's Plays) to retell the Christmas story. They are often funny stories with the devil trying to stop the shepherds by tempting them on their way. The Shepherds always find Jesus in the end, with the Archangel Michael often making an appearance and defeating the devil. This defeat represents the victory of good over evil.

IRELAND Gaelic Christmas Greeting:

Nollaig Shona Duit-pronounced no-leg hun-na ditch Means Happy Christmas to you.

December 8th or Good Aul is the day when you put up your Christmas tree and start decorating.

In Ireland, they don't celebrate a Thanksgiving like we do therefore Christmas is very family focused. Most traditions are centred around family, feasts, and craic (fun) pronounced krak.

Decorations typically consist of oranges decorated with cloves, candles, and evergreens such as holly and mistletoe.

In catholic homes it is tradition to light a candle and place it in a window. The candle is a symbol of welcome to Mary and Joseph on their journey to Bethlehem

Little Christmas

Is an old Irish tradition dating back to ancient times when women were the sole keepers of the house. Also called Women's Christmas or Nollaig na mBan in Gaelic, it is celebrated on January 6th which is the Feast of the Epiphany and signals the end of the Christmas Season. On this day, the men take down all the decorations and take over the house by cooking and cleaning. The women, who have worked so hard during the Christmas season go out with their girlfriends for an afternoon to have lunch or drinks.

Traditional Irish Christmas Blessing

Christmas Star

The light of the Christmas star to you The warmth of a home and hearth to you The cheer and goodwill of friends to you The hope of a childlike heart to you The joy of a thousand angels to you The love of the Son and God's peace to you

- Christmas in Iceland starts four weeks before proper Christmas, which begins on December 24 and ends thirteen days later on January 6th. Traditionally one candle is lit each Sunday until four candles are lit on the 24th. At 6:00 pm church bells ring to start the Christmas celebration. The religiously observant Icelanders attend mass while the secular Icelanders begin their holiday meal immediately. After the meal is over, they open gifts and spend the evening together. In Iceland people eat smoked lamb, ptarmigan, pork and turkey.
- Thirteen days before December 24, children will leave their shoes by the window so that the 13 Yule Lads can leave small gifts in their shoes. Yule Lads are the sons of two trolls, Grýla and Leppalúði, living in the Icelandic mountains. Each of the Yule Lads is known for a different kind of mischief (for example slamming doors, stealing meat, stealing milk or eating the candles). Yule Lads traditionally wear early Icelandic wool clothing.
- During the holiday season, it is traditional for families to work together to bake small cookies to serve or give to guests. Most common are thin gingerbread cookies which are decorated in many different colors of glaze. Many families also follow the tradition of making laufabrauð, a flat thin bread that is cut out using a special tool and folding technique.
- Thirteen days after the 24th, Icelanders say goodbye to the Yule Lads and other mystical creatures such as elves and trolls. There are bonfires held throughout the country while the elves, Yule Lads, and Icelanders dance together before saying goodbye until the next Christmas.

EGYPT

"Eid Milad Majid" an Egyptian Arabic Christmas greeting, means Glorious Birth Feast.

Egypt is considered to be a holy place since the holy family spent 4 years in Egypt with an infant Jesus.

Most Egyptian Christians belong to the Coptic Orthodox Church and so have some unique traditions:

- 1. Christmas day is celebrated on January 7th.
- 2. The Coptic month leading up to Christmas is called kiahk. Egyptians sing songs of praise on Saturday nights before the Sunday service.
- 3. For 43 days before Christmas from November 25th to January 6th they have a special fast called "The Holy Nativity Fast". During this time, they don't eat anything containing products that come from animals (including chicken, beef, dairy, and eggs)-basically a vegan diet.
- 4. On Christmas Eve January 6th, Coptic Christians go to church for a special service starting at 10:30pm and finish shortly after midnight however some services have gone until 4am!
- 5. After the service ends people go home to eat a Christmas meal filled with meat, eggs, and dairy-all the things that they didn't eat during the advent fast. "Fata" a soup made with bread, rice, garlic, and boiled lamb is a popular dish.
- 6. Santa is called Baba Noel which means Father Christmas. He is expected to climb through windows to leave presents. Children will often leave out "kahk" a special sweet biscuit for Baba Noel.
- 7. On Christmas day people come together for parties and take kahk to give as gifts. They also distribute "Zalabya" (donuts) and "Bouri" (Mullet Fish) to the poor.

Yule Log History

Norway is the birthplace of the Yule log. The ancient Norse used the Yule log in their celebration of the return of the sun at winter solstice. "Yule" came from the Norse word hweol, meaning wheel. The Norse believed that the sun was a great wheel of fire that rolled towards and then away from the earth. Ever wonder why the family fireplace is such a central part of the typical Christmas scene? This tradition dates back to the Norse Yule log. It is probably also responsible for the popularity of log-shaped cheese, cakes and desserts during the holidays.

Norway Craft

It's a fun idea to decorate and burn a yule log as part of your Winter Solstice or Christmas celebration. Tradition is that you're not supposed to work while the Yule log burns and that Yule logs must be oak or cut from last year's Christmas tree and kept protected by the hearth for a year, it's also said that Yule logs must be received as a gift. From start (collecting the decorations from nature) to finish (feasting, burning and making a wish) this is a fun tradition for kids. You can always make an extra to give as a gift. It's great to go out in late fall or early winter with baskets and let the kids collect the decorations themselves. Also think with your nose. What will smell good burning in your house? Orange rinds or dried apple rings would also be a nice addition.

Yule Log

- Round Logs, 12"-24" long (depending on the size of your fireplace or woodstove)
- Twine, raffia or ribbon (make sure it's paper or 100% cotton)
- Scissors
- Some natural goodies: Pinecones, small pine boughs, berries, mistletoe, holly, cinnamon sticks, etc.
- Dried fruit

Group your decorations and tie them on. This might be easier with a helper. After you've tied on some decorations you may want to go back and tuck a few more items in. You can use smaller ones as a centerpiece on the table or give it as a gift. During Winter Solstice or Christmas Eve, burn your Yule log. Another Yule tradition is to make a wish for the new year as you light the log.

Norwegian Recipe

Very easy and versatile. Serve rolled like a crepe with syrup or jam. Can also be a dessert stuffed with a sweetened cream cheese and berry mixture.

Norwegian Pancakes - Pannekaken

- 3 eggs
- 1½ cups milk
- 1 cup all-purpose flour
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon sugar

Combine the eggs and milk in the container of a blender. Add the flour, salt and sugar, and blend until smooth. Heat a skillet over mediumhigh heat, and coat with cooking spray or butter. Scoop about 1/4 cup of batter into the skillet and tilt the pan to coat the bottom. Cook until the top looks dry, about 30 seconds. Carefully slide a spatula under the pancake and flip. Cook for a few seconds on the other side, just until browned. Remove to a plate and repeat with remaining batter.

RUSSIA The story of Babouska (Grandmother)

Manyyears ago on a stormy winter's night, old Babouska was tending the fire in her hearth when three traveling men arrived at her door and asked for refuge from the blizzard.

Baboushka invited them in, made them warm and comfortable, and fed them what food she had. She asked the men why they were traveling on such a cold and stormy night. They replied that they were searching for a baby prince, but the star that was guiding them was hidden by the snowstorm. They told her that the bright and radiant new star was the sign of a holy child's birth, and they were going to bring him great gifts and bow down before him; they invited her to join them in their search.

Baboushka replied that she would much like to see the child, but she was too old to travel far and besides, she had no gifts to give a newborn prince. Soon after the storm cleared and they could see the star once more, the three men set out once again.

All at once, Baboushka was filled with a terrible sense of loneliness, and knew that she must go after the men and travel with them to find the babe. She hurried to gather what she needed into a sack and started off into the hills. She asked after the travelers, and the holy babe, and tried to recognize the special star in the night sky, but to no avail. She never caught the wise men, nor did she find the holy child, but to this day she wanders the Earth giving what little gifts she can to the children she meets along the way.

Russian Santa Claus

S Novym Godom, pronounced "ESS NOVEN GODUM" -a New Year greeting

The Russian Santa Claus is named Ded Moroz, or Grandfather Frost. On New Year's Eve, he places presents for children under the New Year tree (as opposed to a Christmas tree which was banned in 1929). He brings with him his granddaughter Snegurochka, The Snow Maiden. He carries a magical staff that he uses to create snow, frost, and ice. He wears a red, blue, silver, or gold coat lined with white fur; and wears valenki, traditional felt boots made of wool. Unlike our Santa, Ded Moroz is tall, thin and he travels in a troika, a sleigh led by three horses.

Swedes wait until after dark to open their presents on Christmas Eve.

Swedes wait until after dark to open their presents on Christmas Eve. Luckily, they don't have to wait too long since it gets dark around 2pm. Presents are wrapped simply and often have a rhyme or limerick attached with a clue to what is inside. This Christmas Eve try your hand at a silly limerick and have fun guessing what is in your package before opening.

Swedish Advent Star

It's no surprise that the Swedes prefer decorations that are rustic, simple and beautiful. These Swedish advent stars can be made using leftover wrapping paper, old books or any fabric that you have lying around. Supplies:

- 12 strips of paper 1/4" to 1/2" wide x 6" long, but any size works
- Glue
- Twine or ribbon for hanging
- Note: you'll be constructing 2 stars that you'll attach to each other

Step 1- Glue 2 strips together to form a cross. It's helpful to crease the first 2 strips in half so you know exactly where the center is.

Step 5- Glue 2 corner strips together so that the under sides are facing front and come together at a 90-degree angle. Repeat for all 4 corners.

Step 6- Lay one star down with the wrong side facing up. Lay the second star on top with the right side facing up (wrong sides will be facing each other) so that you can thread the long strips through a loop.

Step 7- Glue the long strips to the loops. Once the glue is dry, trim the edges.

To finish off your star, add either twine or ribbon and hang.

As we gear up for Christmas, we'd like to share our thanks and best wishes with you, our valued customers and friends here in the community. Your support and goodwill have really made our year special, and we sincerely appreciate your patronage. Happy Holidays!

INUIT

Christmas celebrations are a relatively new tradition for the Inuit, who instead would celebrate the winter Solstice with feasting, games, throat singing, dancing and gifts. These celebrations were held for the whole community.

Winter Solstice Celebrations

Quviasukvik is a winter feast to appease the roaming spirits for good luck in the year to come and celebrate the coming year. It is celebrated in late fall or winter depending on the community to mark the new sun emerging after the winter solstice.

In December, the Messenger Feast is held inside a community building. This potlatch feast demonstrated the social status and wealth of the community. Amessenger was typically sent to a neighboring community to invite them to be guests at the feast. Invitations were usually sent out to peoples that they hoped to have continued or improved trading relations with. Gifts were often exchanged.

Sinck Tuck is a winter solstice festival celebrated by the Inuit of Northern Canada. Whole communities gather for a big party where they exchange gifts, feast, dance, and sing. They feast on caribou, seal meat, and raw arctic char- a cold-water fish somewhere between trout and salmon and muktuk-frozen whale skin and blubber.

Games such as Ajagaq, an Inuit version of a cup and ball type game. Are often played at these feasts.

To Play:

The player holds a small spear shaped bone attached to a larger bone with holes in it. Then the player flips the larger bone over the spear and tries to catch it in one of the holes.
