Helping A Local Family Member Fighting Cancer

Photo - Beats for Bob and Jenny is being held to help the family cope financially with the ongoing battle with Bob's cancer. Railroad Steele is hosting an evening of music to help raise funds for the family. Photo provided by Glenda Massicotte

By Rosalind Russell - People from the local area are coming together to help a Walford-Massey area family where a father is fighting an aggressive form of cancer.

Railroad Steele band member Glenda Massicotte says Beats for Bob and Jenny happens on Saturday, December 10th at 6:00 p.m. at the Walford Community Centre.

She says Bob Zarichney has been diagnosed with an aggressive form of the disease, so the fundraiser will help him and his wife Jenny Massicotte financially and emotionally, adding the couple has two small children at home.

Band alumni and other talented musicians will provide entertainment at the event

Memorial Tree Returns To Espanola Hospital

Photo - Memory bulbs will soon be available at the Espanola Regional Hospital Auxiliary Tuck Shop and the Memory Tree will be once again set up in the lobby. Photos by Rosalind Russell

Buying hand-made ornaments in memory of loved ones is back in Espanola. Sandra Courtemanche, with the Espanola Regional Hospital Auxiliary says they have been unable to have the Memory Tree set up at the hospital since the pandemic, but it returns this year. She adds the auxiliary has been busy making hand-made ornaments for sale as well which can be personalized for loved ones.

Courtemanche says they cost $10, $15 or $20 each with the funds going towards buying equipment and supporting programs in the hospital and health centre.

She adds the bulbs go on sale on November 21st and the tree will be set up in the foyer of the hospital with the public having the option to display their memorial bulbs until Christmas Week.

Courtemanche adds the public can either come by the tuck shop at the hospital or view the display they will have set up in the mall during Christmas bazaars this Holiday Season.

Want more information, drop by the tuck shop in the lobby of the hospital.

Unusual Book By Local Author Almost Sells Out First Edition

The founder of Planet Karma and a digital presence on social media has settled in Massey and written a book from a very different angle.

Guillaume McMartin was making a cross-country tour on his bicycle last year to raise awareness for Missing and Murdered Indigenous Women. He got a flat in Whitefish River First Nation and his temporary stop became a more permanent one after falling in love with the region.

The founder of the site Planet Karma, spreads a message of goodwill and hosts podcasts out of Massey when he is not writing.

He produced his first book with the first printing almost sold out.

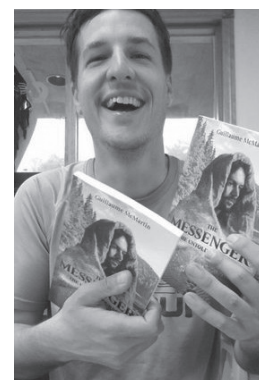

His book, Entitled the Messenger, the Untold Journey is a story about Jesus in his twenties and his travels before he took his message of peace to the masses.

Entitled The Messenger, the Untold

Journey he says it is respectful and gives people a different viewpoint of an important person in human history adding he will be doing a second printing.

To buy the book or for more information about McMartin's adventures, visit <https://www.facebook.com/guillaume.mcmartin> or <https://www.facebook.com/planetkarma1/>

Photo - A new book by a local area author focuses on the life of Jesus in his twenties. Guillaume Martin says the interest has been so high, he will have to produce a second printing. Photos provided by GM and used with permissions.

Cambrian College Completes Six-Week Trades Training Program

Photo - Students who took part in the six-week trades programming provided by Cambrian College include Sharlee Moffat, Damion Beddow, Miles Gendron, Harry Hood and Rebecca Piché. Aaron O'Bumsawin is not in the photo, but he also participated in the shed construction project led by instructor Henry Girard and overseen by Training Consultant Melanie Tincombe. Photos by Rosalind Russell

A local anonymous supporter of Cambrian College has a new shed, thanks to students who took up a six-week trades training program.

Training consultant, Melanie Tiscombe says former Espanola teacher, Henry Girard, was hired to oversee the work of the students, which included welding, carpentry, woodwork and construction skills.

She says the $2,000 raised from the sale of the shed is going to the Espanola Helping Hand Food Bank.

Tiscombe adds with the success of the programming, there are plans in the works to hold a longer program next Spring which will also include training for electricians and more.

Financial supports are also available for anyone interested in exploring the trades as a career choice.

Interested individuals can contact the college's two satellite campuses in Espanola and Little Current.
