Sagamok-Anishnawbek First Nation Opens New Detachment

Elder Manitowabi told the gathering “The police can’t do it alone. We have to work with them to make sure our community is safe.

The local detachment now has five officers and one sergeant. The new detachment building itself features two holding cells, a fingerprint room, and an IT/Guard Monitoring Room, as well as a sally port entry garage, hard and soft interview rooms, a family room, a conference room, and administrative spaces. A welcome addition is the four new pod units for officers to use when not on duty, allowing them to stay in the community between shifts rather than commuting each day. Each pod is a furnished bedroom unit with access to on-site kitchen and laundry facilities. A community barbecue was held following the ribbon-cutting providing an opportunity to meet the new officers, talk about policing programming, and networking with the community leaders.

Sari Huhtala Presentation

By Grant Lewis - We know many people, if not everyone, are shocked at the price of food today. But.....there are alternatives and the price is right! Foraging for edibles in the wild, also known as Horta hunting, has been around for centuries. Of course, the problem is figuring what is edible and what is not. Well the Espanola Gardeners can help you out. Sari Huhtala, from Spanish is an expert and will be sharing her expertise on Monday, June 12th at the Northern Life Church at 7:00 p.m. There are many wild edibles in the forest, around your house and in your garden.

She will demonstrate ways to harvest and preserve all this good stuff. Sari is the publisher and founder of Alive+Fit Magazine. The magazine was 14 years in print and is now digital. She also owns 70 acres of pristine old growth forest on the shores of the North Channel with meandering trails, protected wetlands and spectacular vistas. The Laughing Forest connects one with nature, and is ripe with edible food. So please join us on the 12th, for a very interesting evening. Everyone welcome and bring a friend.

First Annual WNH Musical Festival Raising Funds For A Worthy Cause

The rain did keep numbers down last Saturday, but the sun more than made up for it on Sunday at Thunderbird Park in Wiikwemkoong Unceded Territory.

The First Annual Wikwemikong Nursing Home Musical Festival was held this weekend to raise funds for the community's new long-term care facility at a cost of $19 million.

Gimaa Kwa Rachel Maniowabi greeted everyone to the park taking in the fashion and car show, crafters, and the musical talent, thanking all the volunteers and community to come together for the new home, which has been allocated 37 new and 59 upgraded spaces and will offer services to Indigenous residents.

She says the ground-breaking ceremony will be held soon, offering the community another opportunity to celebrate their Elders.

The post-secondary school says the incident was detected on Wednesday (May 17) and campus internet in Sudbury and Thunder Bay, shared and department drives, many university websites and services continue to be inaccessible.

Officials say after discovering the issue, staff immediately took steps to secure and protect the network and information – with experts brought in to advise on the next steps.

The university says it's working to ensure critical systems are up and running as soon as possible.
