Former Espanola Resident Pens Novel Being Turned Into A Movie

Photo: A federal government worker formerly from Espanola has been writing books in her spare time. One of those has led to a movie deal. Photo provided.

A former Espanola High School student who now works for the federal government in Ottawa has penned some books in her spare time and one of them is now being turned into a movie. Amy Lea's book 'Woke Up Like This', a teen romantic comedy, was selected as one of CBC's best books for Canadian children and teens in 2023 and made the CBC Canada Reads Longlist for 2024, one of only 15 books to receive the honour. She says the book focuses on its 17-year-old heroine Charlotte Wu who must work with her arch-nemesis on making the right life choices.

Lea says Amazon Studios has purchased the film option and the book has also been featured on The Today Show, People Magazine, and Entertainment Weekly.

She adds once filming is finished, Amazon will be releasing it on its site, Prime Video.

Lea has completed is a trilogy; 'Set on You', published in 2022, and 'Exes & O's', which came out in October 2023 by Penguin Random House, with the final installment, 'The Catch,' being released just before Valentine's Day.

Age Friendly Strategy And Three-Year Action Plan Focus Of New Survey In Espanola

Photo - An Age Friendly survey is underway in Espanola. Go to espanola.ca for more information or to take part. Paper copies are also available at the town office, rec centre and library. Photo capture - Rosalind Russell

The Town of Espanola is asking for the public's input on a new action plan focusing on age friendly strategies. According to the release, the town is inviting residents to share their views and comments on the Age Friendly Strategy and Three Year Action Plan, focusing on health and recreation.

Officials say once launched the strategy and action plan will work to ensure anyone in Espanola can enjoy good health, continue to participate fully, and feel valued and respected – regardless of age. The survey is available in two forms, online, visit our websites for the link, or a paper-based survey available at the town office, recreation centre or library.

The survey closes on February 2nd and results will be reported back to the public through council.

Espanola Hospital And First Nation Health Team Signs Agreement

traditional practices and improving access and awareness of Indigenous Health Services available in the LaCloche Foothills region.

The Maamwesying Ontario Health Team was announced in October of 2022 to seamlessly integrate health care services for clients in the communities of Atikameksheng Anishnawbek, Sagamok Anishnawbek, Serpent River First Nation, Mississauga First Nation, Thessalon First Nation, Garden River First Nation, Batchewana First Nation, Michipicoten First Nation, Chapleau Cree First Nation, Chapleau Ojibwe First Nation, and Brunswick House First Nation, as well as the urban Indigenous population in Sault Ste. Marie.

“With this agreement, Maamwesying Ontario Health Team and Espanola Regional Hospital and Health Centre, the healthcare hub of the Lacloche Foothills region, recognize the importance of Indigenous-driven health systems that are community-designed, innovative, and culturally safe. This agreement reaffirms the value of Indigenous peoples and their right to self-determination within the healthcare system. Together, we recognize the collective long-term goal of creating a healthcare system free from racism and discrimination,” said Carol Eshkakogan, Chief Executive Officer for Maamwesying North Shore Community Health Services Inc./ Chair of the Maamwesying Ontario Health Team Leadership Council.

The collaboration between Maamwesying and Espanola Regional Hospital and Health Centre is driven by a vision to provide coordinated and seamless health care, ensuring optimal outcomes for Indigenous patients and clients. This collaboration aims to improve access to quality care to improve outcomes and enhance equitable patient care and culturally safe, while actively involving Indigenous health leaders and advisors in the planning, design, delivery, and evaluation of health services to enhance the satisfaction and experience for patients, caregivers, and providers.

“On behalf of Espanola Regional Hospital and Health Centre, I am honoured to sign this agreement. Partnering with Maamwesying on our journey towards reconciliation is a significant step in strengthening our relationship to improve seamless and coordinated access to quality care, in a caring environment that is free of racism and discrimination.

Building connections that guide our team’s growth, learning, and respect for the traditional and cultural practices of Indigenous patients, residents and families across our health campus will help to shape our collective future. It gives our organization great pleasure to share in this agreement.” Jane Battistelli, President and CEO of Espanola Regional Hospital and Health Centre.

By signing this agreement, Maamwesying and Espanola Regional Hospital and Health Centre are committing to work together to create culturally safe spaces within the healthcare system and improve care transitions so Indigenous patients have the support they need to access the right care at the right time.

Talking About Death Is A Matter Of Life

The Espanola Family Health Team says a forum will focus on talking about how death is a matter of life.

Team spokesperson Jennifer Burden says a meeting focusing on advance care planning will be held early next month to help the public through the process of dealing with the potential loss of a loved one and the palliative care and supports available in the Espanola area.

She says the session will be held on Thursday, February 8 from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m.

Burden adds people who wish to attend will have to pre-register.

Algoma Public Health Sends Out 6,000 Letters Regarding Immunization

Algoma Public Health has sent out thousands of letters to parents and guardians about the legal obligation for immunizations to attend school in the district.

Dr. John Tuinema, the Associate Medical Officer of Health, says roughly 6,000 letters have been sent to parents and guardians in Algoma informing them that immunization records for their children aren't up to date, either because they're overdue or because the health unit hasn't received an updated vaccination record.

He emphasizes preventing infectious disease is a cornerstone of ensuring a safe school environment adding high levels of vaccination contribute to herd immunity which keeps dangerous diseases away from children. He says failure to do so could mean students attending elementary or secondary school may receive up to 20 days of suspension adding those suspensions will take place in April and May if students have not received all mandatory vaccines, do not have their immunization records up to date, or have a valid immunization exemption on file.

Update your child's immunization record with
