By Rosalind Russell - Three student interns expect it to have a busy season working at the Massey Area Museum. Museum board President Bill Mawhinney walked the students through their paces, the first day of working at the institution located on Highway 17. The students, all members of Sagamok-Anishinabek First Nation, are learning how to run the cash and gift shop, but also taking in plenty of information about the different areas of the museum featuring life over the last 150 years. Officials say they will be on hand to assist the museum and the public through the summer months.

A Warkwickshire High Tea

By Rosalind Russell - St. George's Anglican Church is continuing its 100th anniversary celebrations holding several seatings for a Warkwickshire High Tea. The posh affair will be held over two days, according to Reverend Bev van der Jagt, Thursday, July 18th and Friday, July 19th starting at 10:30 am with the last seating at 3:30 pm. She says there is a maximum of ten people per seating so pre-booking would be appreciated.

Tickets are $15 per person and includes culinary delights based on high tea out of Warkwickshire, England. Reverend van der Jagt adds formal wear is an option for anyone taking in the tea that will take place at the manse beside the church (manse means house occupied by reverend). For tickets or information, call 705-919-6541 or email: stgeorgesespanola@bell.net
